City Marina...Engineers Willing

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON

The Army Corps of Engineers is willing to proceed with plans for a $1.5 million marina at Kingston Point but would drop those plans if the city, county or state disapproves either because of the cost or because of adverse environmental impact.

The Corps of Engineers held a public hearing Wednesday night in the Council Chambers of the new city hall on Meadow Street. The hearing was attended by some 100 persons; about 15 expressed an opinion on the project, most opposed it.

Representing the Corps of Engineers were Major Donald Anselm (who chaired the meeting), assistant engineer for public works; John Zamitt, chief of the regional rivers and harbors division; Donald Frank, project engineer for the Kingston proposal and Robert Campbell public affairs officer for the district. Alex Gronville, representing the State Division of Parks and Recreation was also in attendance along with Mayor Francis R. Koenig, Alderman-at-Large T. Robert Gallo and members of the Common Council.

Zamitt outlined the basic tenants of the preliminary study which call for the construction of a marina to dock 342 boats with parking for 450 cars, a launching area, raising of existing dikes by three or four feet to afford protection to the marina, dredging the main channel to a depth of 10 feet, and construction of a walking bridge to the Kingston Lighthouse.

The total cost of the project, as outlined in the Corps preliminary plans was estimated at $1.5 million of which the Corps would pay $250,000 with the remainder made up in local costs. Kingston's share was estimated at about $625,000.

As outlined by Jay Hogan from the city engineer's office, who worked with the Corps on the preliminary plans, the dredging would cost $300,000; building the breakwater would cost $360,000; bulkheads would cost $150,000 and parking facilities would cost $200,000.

Frank Fabbie of 20 Crane Street was the first speaker and came out "definitely opposed" to the project. Fabbie noted that in 1970 the city's application to the state to expand its land fill into the adjoining lagoon had been denied. He cited the danger to wildlife from the project outlined by the Corps last night. He said the spending of $625,000 by the city on that project was "foolhardy" and said the money could be better spent in upgrading the city's parks. Fabbie said he was in favor of a park at Kingston Point but not a marina.

Zamitt pointed out that if the adverse effects to the environment definitely outweighed the benefits of the project that it could be abandoned by the Corps.

Robert Ackert raised a point cited by several other persons that the marina would serve only 342 persons (the number of boats) and that the rest of the city residents would have to pay for it. Ackert estimated that the city would take in only $50,000 a year from boat rentals and concessions and that the marina would prove a burden on the taxpayers. "The only thing we'll get is the boat launching ramp," he said. "I can't see why the city was chosen for the marina." Zamitt pointed out that the city wasn't "chosen," that the city had asked the Corps for the study.

William Dwyer, whose family operates Dwyer's Boat Basin on the Rondout Creek, was "quite opposed" to the proposal. "They will be removing an area (of wildlife) north of the dike that they said they didn't want removed south of the dike," Dwyer said. He also said that sufficient boating facilities were already available in the area and said that the marina would be "another infringement on private enterprise."

Alderman Clifford G. Sinsabaugh (D-10th Ward) claimed there was "great demand" for the marina, stating that "there are nowhere near half the berthing spaces needed now available," citing a study taken by the city recreation commission in 1969.

William Murray of West Hurley, speaking in favor, asked for "an open mind on the proposal."

"Kingston started as a port city," he said. "The only alternative we have (for the water front area) is recreational or residential facilities." Murray said the water front was now a disgrace. "We need more hearings, more figures, more interest," Murray said. "We need the Chamber of Commerce here tonight. Is there anyone here from the Chamber of Commerce?" The Chamber did not have a representative.

Five Children Perish In Chatham House Fire

By JON POWERS

CHATHAM

Five young children were burned to death Wednesday night in this Columbia County community, despite their mother's frantic attempts to lead the family from the raging inferno.

Mrs. Beatrice Rochester tried time and again to locate her children in the smoke and fire filled rooms of the two story structure. She finally abandoned the desperate search to call the Chatham Fire Department.

Volunteers, however, could only watch helplessly as flames engulfed the River Street home. They were repeatedly driven back by the unbearable heat.

When firemen were finally able to sift through the ruins, they found the charred bodies of the Rochester children: Alfred Jr., 7, Edith, 6, Valarie, 4, Rosemary, 3, and Patricia, 1.

A deputy with the Columbia County Sheriff's Department said today that Mrs. Rochester was on the second floor of the home at about 11:30 p.m. Wednesday when she smelled smoke. She went downstairs, of where she found a small fire near a kerosene stove.

Mrs. Rochester raced back upstairs and roused her five children from bed. She led the frightened children to the first floor, only to find that the front door was jammed. She told deputies that she then went to the side door, but that in doing so, she lost track of the youngsters in the rapidly spreading fire and smoke.

Mrs. Rochester stumbled out to a neighbor's home, where she called firemen. She and the neighbor then ran back to the blazing house and tried to climb through the downstairs windows to rescue the children.

By the time firemen arrived at the scene, the home was completely engulfed in flames. Fireman Gerald Rowe, one of the first at the scene, told The Freeman, "There was fire and smoke coming from all the doors and windows. We just couldn't get near the house. Everytime we tried, the heat drove us back."

Four hours after the first alarm was sounded, the blackened structure collapsed into its cellar. A brief search through the smoldering ruins revealed three charred bodies huddled together. The other two were found about 15 feet away.

Police believe the fire started near a kerosene space heater on the first floor of the house.

Mrs. Rochester's husband, Alfred, was not at home when the fire broke out.

More than 125 firemen from seven Columbia County companies, including Old Chatham, Chatham Center and East Chatham, battled to bring the fire under control.

Today, Chatham Fire Chief Robert A. Tuthill searched the ruins of the home in an attempt to determine the exact cause of the fatal blaze.

Explosive-Laden Mail Intercepted

Bomb Terror Spreading

By United Press International

The death-by-mail campaign against Israeli diplomats spread today to Africa and the Israeli Embassy in Kinshasa, Zaire, the former Belgian Congo, said it had intercepted three of the explosive missives mailed from Holland. There was also a death threat against a rabbi in South Africa.

The explosive devices, so small they can be sent in an ordinary letter, have been received in a number of cities of Europe, Tel Aviv, Montreal and New York. The first one in London killed an Israeli embassy official; the others have been detected before they could cause harm.

The letters have been attributed to the Arab Palestinian Black September terrorist group held responsible for the Munich massacre of 11 Israelis at the Olympic Games and a shootout in which five guerrillas and a German policeman were killed. All were mailed from Amsterdam.

The new terror campaign has brought warnings from Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban and Deputy Premier Yigal Allon that the perpetrators must be liquidated. The implied threat was that there would be more Israeli strikes against guerrilla bases in Lebanon and Syria.

Israeli police intercepted 10 more booby-trapped envelopes today before they could be delivered to prominent Israeli addressees. Jerusalem dispatches reported. It brought to 12 the number of bombs to have arrived by mail in two days.

A police spokesman said a Tel Aviv industrialist, Amichai Faglin, was under questioning, reportedly for trying to smuggle weapons to Europe for use in counterattacks against Arab guerrillas there.

Police Minister Shlomo Hillel told Israeli newspapers his men would do all they could to prevent weapons being sent to Europe for anti-guerrilla actions, especially by the militant Jewish Defense League.

The latest batch of letters, discovered in a last-minute check in Jerusalem's post office was aimed at the chairman of the Jewish Agency, Arye Pucos, and many of the organizations officials, among others.

In Amsterdam, police said nearly 40 bomb-laden letters had been mailed from the city to Israeli diplomats in at least nine cities, including New York.

Ford Recalls 900,000 Cars

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP)

Ford Motor Co. said today it is recalling 900,000 1972 models so it can search for 200 which could develop a steering gear malfunction.

Dealers also will check the steering mechanism on 1973 models they have on hand, the company said.

Owners of the 900,000 Torinos, Montegos, Fords, Mercurys Thunderbirds, Lincoln

Continental, Mark IVs, Rancheros and light trucks with power steering built after March 1, 1972, are being notified by registered mail to take their cars to dealers for inspection.

The company said five malfunctions have been discovered so far but none have led to accidents. The cause was traced to an omitted steering gear manufacturing operation, Ford said.

State College Master Plan Is Discussed By Chancellor

By WADE BURKHART

NEW PALTZ

The Master Plan for the future of the State University of New York has still not been fully released, but SUNY Chancellor Dr. Ernest L. Boyer outlined what he saw as the four great themes of that plan when he spoke at the State University College at New Paltz Wednesday.

The chancellor was addressing the first meeting of the new academic year of the New Paltz College Assembly. The College Assembly is the chief governing body on the New Paltz Campus, and is made up of faculty, students, and administrators.

Boyer said it was the first College Assembly he had attended on any campus, but believing the governing of the campuses should be conducted on the campuses. He said he was at the New Paltz meeting at the invitation of Associate Dean of Students David Drinkwater-Lunn, who is chairman of the assembly.

The first of the great themes in the Master Plan is the increased emphasis on the efficient use of resources, both physical and fiscal, according to Boyer.

Boyer said a balance would have to be struck between "too much and too little supervision" — colleges would have to be accountable for the public money they expend while maintaining their individual integrity.

To the chancellor, this means "accountability, not control." The state university system must "serve, yet stand apart from society," he said. Resources may be more efficiently used by regional centers with more sharing between campuses, and the avoiding of "destructive duplication," though some duplication is necessary and desirable.

The recent cutback in dormitory and other building construction is more efficient use of resources, according to Boyer.

He said it allows more money to be channeled to actual educational needs.

A second great theme will be an increased emphasis on both quality of research and teaching. In research, projects such as university-wide research programs could serve to make "the whole greater than the sum of the parts", Boyer said.

In teaching, he said, means must be found to better reward outstanding teachers, and the new Distinguished Teaching Professor rank was a step in that direction.

A third theme is that of "responsible change," he said. More flexibility and diversity of program must be provided. Boyer believed a greater range of students, both in social class and age, would be attending SUNY colleges in the future, and more varied needs would have to be met. The location of higher education, the time frame, and the content and style of learning should all become more flexible and diverse, Boyer believed.

The fourth theme in the plan, Boyer felt, was the achieving of "effective governance" on both the college and university levels. The roles of chancellor and president must be respected, but "full and active consultation" on all levels must be sought.

Dr. Stanley K. Coffman Jr., the new president at New Paltz, spoke briefly. He said he always managed to get out of giving an address, and he was not giving one this time either. He praised Boyer for his "un-Chancellor like behavior" in coming to New Paltz to communicate directly with the college.

Will Improve Old-Age Benefits

Payroll Tax Hike Approved

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Payroll taxes would rise sharply next year to pay for a broad liberalization of Social Security and Medicare health insurance benefits under provisions approved Wednesday by the Senate Finance Committee.

The committee is expected to complete action on the measure today or Friday after approving other provisions replacing the welfare system with a "work-or-else" program. Senate debate may start next week. Well-paid workers will see withholding rise by $180 a year in 1973 and more in 1974.

The new provisions would:

—Allow people over 65 covered by Medicare to buy drugs for the treatment of chronic, long-term diseases at a cost of $1 for each prescription.

—Raise from $1,680 to $2,400 the amount a pensioner could earn with no loss of his Social Security benefits. But 74 senators are co-sponsoring a bill to put that figure at $3,000.

—Extend Medicare coverage to pay the hospital and doctor bills of the disabled.

—Raise the minimum Social Security pension for persons who worked steadily at low wages to $200 a month. A person who worked for $50 a week for 30 years now is entitled to only about $153.

Increase benefits by 1 per cent a year for every year a worker delays his retirement after reaching 65.

—Boost payments for the surviving spouses of pensioners. A widow, now entitled to 82.5 per cent of her late husband's payment, would get his full amount.

—Liberalize the formula under which men's benefits are computed to make it conform with the more liberal formula for women.

—And provide Social Security disability benefits to 250,000 blind people who paid the tax for at least 18 months; reduce by two months the six-month waiting period for disability payments; and provide for Medicare coverage for chiropractors' bills.

Murder on Morningside Heights

Police officer stands guard over the body of Wolfgang G. Friedmann, a Columbia Law School professor, who was murdered on his way home from the Morningside Heights campus Wednesday afternoon by what police allege were three teenage assailants. A "round the clock manhunt" ordered by Mayor Lindsay resulted in the apprehension of Daniel Mingues, 16, of Manhattan shortly before dawn today. He was charged with homicide in the fatal stabbing of the professor. Friedmann, who fled Nazi persecution in the 1930s was attacked by two youths in 1956 but he successfully fought them off. When he resisted on Wednesday he was stabbed to death. The motive in the crime was allegedly robbery. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

'Racial Equality'... Jackie Remembers

JACKIE ROBINSON

By WADE BURKHART

Jackie Robinson, the first black man to play major league baseball, and a Hall of Famer, urged the insurance industry to join in the fight for racial equality when he spoke before the Independent Mutual Insurance Agents Convention at the Granit 2 Hotel Wednesday.

The man who broke baseball's color line 25 years ago used examples from his own life to show how cooperation can overcome racial barriers.

Robinson entered the majors with the old Brooklyn Dodgers, and he said Branch Rickey, the team's general manager at the time, helped prepare him for the difficulties he would face as the major leagues' only black man.

Robinson gave high praise to his teammates for accepting him, particularly Pee Wee Reese, Gil Hodges, and Eddie Stanky. Reese, a Southerner, silenced some of the worst of the bench jockeying by an open display on the field of comradeship with Robinson, Robinson said.

He didn't paint the old Brooklyn Dodgers as a stronghold of love and affection. He conceded that some of the old Dodgers didn't like each other, but said they resolved to work together on the field to get the job done. In the 10 years Robinson was with the Dodgers, they got the job done, winning six pennants, finishing second three times, and third once.

Along with the great success Robinson has had in baseball and business, his life has contained more than its share of tragedy. He endured the hardships of loneliness and scorn as the first black in the majors, and his son Jackie became a drug addict, and after being rehabilitated was killed in a traffic accident. Robinson apologized for not having a prepared text for his speech Wednesday, saying "some problems" he has been having with his eyes "the past few months" did not allow him to read a speech.

Robinson is diabetic, and is going blind.

He spoke at length about the tragedy of his son's life and death. His son, who Robinson said was a good athlete, suffered from over-competitiveness with his father's past exploits, and drifted into drug use. After much persuasion, and with Robinson and his wife showing "as much love as we could," his son was entered in the Daytop drug rehabilitation program, and successfully rehabilitated. Two years later, while involved in the anti-drug campaign, he was killed in a late-night car accident.

Robinson said it was as if he "lost his son at 16, got him back again at 22, and two years later lost him again." He urged all to work against the drug problem, and for parents to be more accessible to their children, and willing to talk about problems before they become acute.

The insurance industry, with its resources, and other industries could be an important force for racial equality, said Robinson. He was convinced of the necessity of an interracial, non-violent solution to racial problems. "Violence is not the answer to the problems we face today," he said.

However, he pointed out that it was difficult to convince young blacks of that point, since violence often seemed to be the only thing white America reacted to. Robinson wants change to occur before violence begins.

He warned that blacks were "concerned about where they are going," and deep fears had been created in the black community.

He said he was sometimes criticized for speaking out against racial injustice, because he had successfully made the most of the opportunities white Americans had given him.

However, he said he was going to continue to speak out. "No black man has it made until the most underprivileged black man in America has it made," he said.

At the end of his speech, he said he hoped those in the audience understood a little more about what sort of a man he was, and "the tremendous pride I have in my blackness."

The conventioners gave him a standing ovation both when he was introduced and at the end of his speech.

UCCC Faculty Plans to 'Go Public'

By JON POWERS

STONE RIDGE
The Ulster County Community College Faculty Association, in hopes of resolving its contract dispute with the Ulster County Legislature, plans to carry its case to the public to force a negotiated settlement.

"We'll meet the people at the churches; we'll go before the Chamber of Commerce and we'll leaflet on the streets," said Faculty Association president Allen Duane. "We'll present our side of the story and maybe the people will exert some pressure on the county."

The Faculty Association was expected to meet late today to discuss plans for its public campaign.

Duane also said today that he expects the County Legislature to meet shortly, possibly tonight, to set a date for a legislative hearing that would impose a contract settlement on the teachers.

But Peter J. Savago, chairman of the Ulster County Legislature, said today that the county will not meet tonight to set a date for a legislative hearing. "That's not true," said Savago, "both sides submitted their reports on Monday, and I have to review them." Asked if the dispute could still be settled through negotiations, Savago replied, "Possibly."

The Faculty Association has already filed bad faith bargaining charges against the county. PERB will hold a preliminary hearing on the charges Oct. 19 and a hearing Oct. 31 in Albany.

Duane emphasized that today's Faculty Association meeting will not include a strike vote by the membership. "I imagine that any strike vote won't come until after a legislative contract is imposed. But when we take a strike vote, we'll strike."

Candidates Differ on Defense Policies

By United Press International

The contenders for the presidency brought their argument over defense policies to the forefront again today when advisers of Sen. George S. McGovern charged President Nixon is overspending for arms and still trying to play the role of world policeman.

Nixon's defense secretary, Melvin R. Laird, struck back immediately, describing a major 39-page campaign statement issued by McGovern's Panel on National Security as a "new white paper" that "endorses and muddles his white flag, surrender approach to national security."

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew anticipated the new round of debate when he said in St. Louis Wednesday that McGovern's defense policies were "frightening" because they would leave the country with nuclear retaliation as its only course of action if it were attacked.

McGovern's advisers said the administration had misused the recent nuclear arms limitation agreements "as a hunting license to step up the arms race." They said the administration was guilty of poor defense management and of deliberately overstating the threat of the Soviet Union. And they said Nixon intends "to undertake unilaterally the policeman's role throughout the world."

In January, McGovern suggested cutting $30 billion from the defense budget over a three-year period, using the money saved for domestic programs. The panel statement did not mention any figures but said the $54.8 billion budget McGovern suggested earlier for fiscal 1975 would keep U.S. military strength "second to none."

Laird said the panel report was a "new attempt to retreat from the facts of national security." He said McGovern "not only wants to return to a 'neo-isolationist fortress America, he wants to dismantle the fortress." He said Nixon was replacing the previous role of world policeman with "a new policy of partnership with our allies."

Agnew argued the McGovern program "restricts the size of our traditional forces and leaves us with weapons systems that are rapidly becoming obsolete in the face of continuous modernization of conventional armed forces by other world powers." He said it might force the United States to back down in a confrontation with a major power in "a few short years."

McGovern campaigned in Ohio, New Jersey and Pennsylvania Wednesday, sounding his antiwar theme in a speech at Philadelphia. He waved two anti-personnel bombs before an audience of about 600 Democratic campaign fund contributors, saying devices like them were "tearing human flesh" in Indochina "in the name of protecting the honor of the United States."

Earlier Wednesday the South Dakota senator debated factory workers in Cincinnati on the subjects of amnesty and prisoner of war release.

Democratic vice presidential candidate Sargent Shriver was in Minneapolis where he said

Nixon has made "prisoners of war" out of American cities. He said a Democratic administration would pump badly needed money to the cities.

Nixon was in Washington today but will fly Friday to Texas where he will meet with members of the organization Democrats for Nixon. Mrs. Nixon campaigned Wednesday in Idaho and California.

Shriver will take a 40-per-cent pay cut if he is elected vice president. His personal balance sheet shows an income of $108,600 last year and net assets of $100,000 for himself and $707,000 for his wife.

As he disclosed his family finances for the first time, the candidate acknowledged that the McGovern-Shriver campaign is in "serious—I wouldn't say acute—financial trouble."

But he hasn't gone to the Kennedy family for contributions, Shriver said in an interview Wednesday night.

"That's probably the last place that I would turn to ask for money. I have no intention of doing it," Shriver said. "I would have hopes if they are interested in the success of the campaign they would make a contribution."

The salary of the vice president is $62,500 a year plus $10,000 for expenses, all taxable.

Shriver's balance sheet shows that he earned $105,800 last year from his partnership in a Washington law firm and another $2,800 from speaking fees.

He has $42,000 cash in checking accounts, $43,000 cash-surrender-value in his life insurance and $15,000 in personal property that includes automobiles, jewelry and clothing.

Shriver's wife, Eunice, is the oldest daughter of the late Joseph P. Kennedy, one of America's wealthiest men. Her financial statement contained the notation that "Mrs. Shriver's income is derived primarily from trust funds established by Joseph P. Kennedy over which she has no control."

Clark MacGregor, chairman of President Nixon's re-election campaign, had said he considered it inconceivable that the Kennedy family has not contributed to the money-short Democratic campaign.

"It may be inconceivable to Mr. MacGregor," Shriver said, "but he has great trouble with concepts. He's still a politician from Minnesota and he's representing a candidate, President Nixon, who's got $10 million in a slush fund."

"Except for the possibility of my wife, none of the Kennedys has given any money yet. We will disclose all the money we get. Certainly all the money the Kennedys give."

Professor Scores 'Profit'

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A marketing professor says when major oil companies guarantee their dealers a fixed profit on gasoline they "destroy the normal forces of the marketplace" at the consumer's expense.

Fred C. Allvine of Georgia Tech told the Joint Legislative Committee on Consumer Protection Wednesday that removal of price supports for dealers would drop the price of gasoline a couple of cents a gallon.

The committee called the hearing to look into recent gasoline price increases, but the series of witnesses drifted off into such additional areas as new car warranties, dealer franchises, the risks of drilling for oil and vehicle inspections required by the state.

Afterward, the committee chairman, Assemblyman Eugene Levy, R-Spring Valley, said the committee will study the testimony and explore the area further, but he is not sure the state can do much to control pricing practices of major oil companies.

Allvine said price supports "give the major oil company virtually total control over dealer prices," but this was the opposite of what an oil company attorney had said a few hours before.

Irving Slifkin, a regional attorney for Shell Oil Co. from Stamford, Conn., said the individual dealer makes the final decision on what he will charge for his gasoline.

Oil companies merely recommend what a reasonable price might be, Slifkin said. However, a former dealer, Gilbert Vandenberg of Latham, said the dealer has no choice. He is told what to charge, Vandenberg said, by a company which can drive him out of business if it does not like the way he operates.

Several committee members repeatedly asked witnesses if officials of major companies ever got together to decide what prices should be charged for gasoline.

Slifkin said he could vouch for Shell's officials, but said nothing of the industry in general.

Allvine said looking for any pricing conspiracy in the major companies would be "a blind alley."

The professor said marketing managers need not agree on prices in private because it can be handled just as well in public when one company announces it is raising or dropping prices and all other stations fall into line.

A member of the Rockland County legislature, Isaac Goodfriend, suggested that price-fixing "is the purview of the attorney general" and said the committee's time could be better spent trying to find out why gasoline prices vary so greatly within a small area.

Lottery Winner . . . 'A Miracle'

LITTLE FALLS, N.Y. (UPI) — Today must be a day of day-dreams, discussion and disbelief for John and Anna Mizerak—the world's newest millionaires.

Ticket No. 8186082 in the state's "instant millionaire" lottery changes their income from a meager Social Security pension to $50,000 a year for the rest of their lives, or a minimum of $1 million.

Mizerak, 76, is a blind retiree from a local knitting mill who immigrated to the U.S. "more years ago than I remember."

"Miracle! Miracle! Miracle!" was all the Czechoslovakian native could say when his son, John Jr., 40, told him of his good fortune.

Mrs. Mizerak bought eight $3 tickets. Her reaction was much like her husband's: "It's just a miracle. Now we can remodel the house."

The new millionaires live in a tidy 2-story frame house on quiet Loomis Street in this upstate city of 9,000.

Mizerak, who can only leave the house when accompanied by his wife or son because of his sight problem, appeared to be stunned as newsmen, neighbors and well-wishers pushed into their small livingroom.

One reporter offered his hand in congratulations and Mizerak grasped it and kissed it.

Mrs. Mizerak carried the winning ticket in the pocket of her simple house dress for two hours after learning that she had won, until a reporter suggested that it be put in a safety deposit box in the Herkimer County Trust Co.

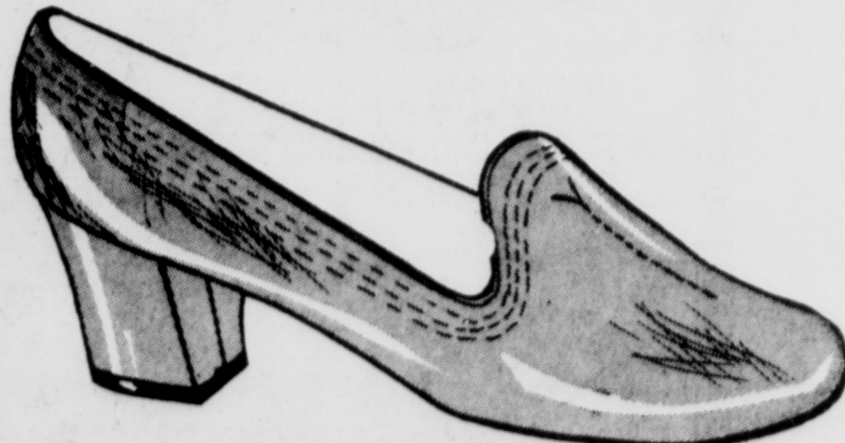

John Jr., a musician in a small band which plays at wedding receptions and parties, said, "It's a great feeling; hard to believe, really."

Taxpayers' President... 'Citizen Has Little to Gain'

By TIM SCHUSTER

The president of the Red Hook Taxpayers' Association has offered his opinion that the 'average citizen residing in Red Hook has little to gain by an increase in apartment dwellers, school population, or public housing.'

This statement was issued in reaction to two recent developments affecting public opinion in the area. The first was a suggestion by a town councilman that the town give study to easing of acreage requirements for residential purposes throughout the town.

And the second event was the recent Regional Planning Association's mass meeting of local officials at Dutchess Community College, which recommended consolidation of several municipal services and powers for the general benefit of the county.

Thaddeus Peters of the RHTA commented: "The September meeting of the Red Hook Town Board heard the story from a councilman he was receiving complaints from individuals that three and five acre zoning was too restrictive. He therefore proposed the revival of the Zoning Commission to review and possibly recommend lowering the present zoning to one acre or less."

Recalling the furor created last year when there were several public hearings on the proposed Vandalia housing development, Peters said, "We are again faced by anonymous individuals who are publicly silent but privately pressuring the Town Board to lower our present zoning standards."

Peters said also: "The day long RPA program, whose chairman is an officer of the McCann Foundation, proposed the county, with the backing of the state, attain veto power over local government zoning regulations and also supported the concept of Community Development, which seeks to override local control in all areas of development, including the construction of public housing."

And, speaking for the Taxpayers, Peters offered this opinion: "The monetary gains as a result of unbridled growth is the sole benefit of the land holder, developers, business men, and all those whose profit column overshadows their principles and concern for a community and its people.

"Constant vigilance by the citizenry of the community is the only assurance that Red Hook's growth will benefit all," he concluded.

Woodstock Board Authorizes Purchase

By TOBIE GEERTSEMA

WOODSTOCK
Authorization of the purchase of four acres of land for town use in the amount of $10,000, adoption of a Landfill Ordinance, and two key appointments highlighted the September meeting of the Woodstock Town Board this week.

The board authorized supervisor Verner May to sign a contract with Beatrice and Rosalie Zaidenberg to purchase four acres immediately behind the town-owned Andy Lee Memorial Field on Rock City Road at a price of $10,000. The contract will also carry an agreement by the sellers for a two-year option for the town to purchase an additional six acres at the price of $2,500 per acre. The acreage is earmarked for future expansion of town governmental and recreational facilities.

The board also officially adopted the Landfill Ordinance, already aired previously at a public hearing, and regulating the use of Woodstock's sanitary landfill for dumping and other purposes. Its aim is to protect the landfill for Woodstock and its environment, and to limit its use of the site.

Two major appointments made by the board included insurance man F. William Sheehan of the Board of Review of Assessment for a five-year and former Fulbright architectural scholar Mrs. Anita Yuran to the Planning Board, also for a five-year term.

Sheehan has already served one year with the assessment agency, and Mrs. Yuran replaces George Francis, who recently resigned, on the planning group.

Another appointment made at the meeting was that of dog warden Harold Short, who was reappointed to that position; also named dog enumerator.

Traffic matters also concerned the board, and Supervisor May announced that parking would be restricted in the center of the village (along Route 212 from Route 375 to the Tinker Street Cinema) from 2 a.m. to 6 a.m. during December, January, February and March.

The regulations will govern both sides of the main thoroughfare (one side is already closed to parking), and the action is already taken in the interest of easier snow removal by the use of Woodstock's sanitary landfill for dumping and other purposes. Its aim is to protect the landfill for Woodstock and its environment, and to limit its use of the site.

Visual pollution — and replaced movable signs be used for the no parking ban, so they can be removed in summer to avoid visual pollution — and replaced as needed in winter.

In other business, the board authorized blanket bonding for town officials in lieu of present bonding techniques which call for individual bonding of town officers. Blanketing will begin next Jan. 1 at a cost of about $1,000 to Woodstock.

Announcement was also made that the next meeting of the Town Board will be held Oct. 5, at 8 p. m. — at which time a public hearing will be conducted on the preliminary budget for the coming financial year.

Letters to Editor

New Ulster Academy

Editor, The Freeman:

There appears to be a good deal of skepticism in some quarters about the completion of the new Ulster Academy building on Route 32.

Although school officials and the president of the board have received assurances from the contractor that construction will be complete by the middle of October, several potential students' parents have withdrawn their applications because they felt that present quartering of classes in a local hotel will be permanent. The false fears of these parents are unsubstantiated. A visit to the building site gives evidence that the board is fulfilling its responsibility to produce viable school quarters for this year's student body.

After two years of having three of my own youngsters attend the city public schools and a fourth child attend one year (which is as much as she could take), I can state with utmost surety that bricks and mortar (or steel) do not a school make nor does long establishment necessarily construe to mean an assiduous concern for the making of a climate for liberal learning. We have fallen woefully short of our responsibility to produce educational excellence within the local public system for whatever the reasons might be. The challenges that have been thrust upon our schools and their administrators are simply not being met. We, the parents, are settling for mediocrity.

Beyond any doubt, Ulster Academy and its Headmaster, Bill Ganter, represent the singular hope that exists currently in this area for imaginative and meaningful education. It is sad that too few parents have been made aware of the opportunity that the Academy presents for educational foresight and vision. It is more regrettable that a few have been turned away by the temporary absence of a building. It is consoling to know, however, that educational excellence is not merely a pipe dream, but that efforts to bring it to pass are at our doorstep.

Ulster Zoning

Editor, The Freeman:

I feel your recent article on the Town of Ulster Development Plan misrepresents the true feelings of Town of Ulster residents on the subject of zoning but is instead the opinion of a select group of developers who own land in the Town of Ulster and hope to develop without regard to neighbors.

Your quote from the "typical" resident is the key to those who attended the meeting — We shouldn't be told where we can develop; what we can do with our land. It's a free country. In reality, the "typical" Town of Ulster resident is a homeowner who has little, if any land for development.

I feel the vast majority of Town of Ulster residents are in favor of zoning and would express this opinion if given the opportunity.

Perhaps when the "legal public hearing" is held regarding the development plan, you could devote an article similar to your Aug. 15 front page prior to the meeting in order to have a more representative sample of Town of Ulster residents present.

Yours truly,

GEORGE H. BELL

Mc, Nixon Youth

Editor, The Freeman:

It was interesting to derive a number of profound conclusions from your editorial of Tuesday, Sept. 5, 1972, concerning McGovern supporters to wit:

They all have long hair and beards and are not neat.

They all use obscenities to describe their parents.

They are all "drug culture" products.

These youths are brainwashed, i.e., they believe the war in Vietnam is immoral, they acknowledge discrimination in the U.S.A. and they are not crazy about Mr. Richard M. Nixon.

However, in all fairness, you also characterized "Nixon Youth":

Their hair is shorter.

They are neat and clean (clean shaven, too.)

They have received poor marks from "radical or even liberal profs" for refusing to affirm anti establishment viewpoints.

"Our un-brainwashed youth knew better and refused to follow, like sheep, as others (sic) did, the old liberal line."

Thank you for a marvelous job of clearing up issues and drawing a line. Your total black and white characterization of people and events was beautiful, especially as a "cold war" psychological profile of middle America. You convinced us: we'll sure vote for Mr. Richard M. Nixon now.

Jack Anderson Says

The FAA and 'Operation Zeke'

WASHINGTON — A mysterious electronic ray to knock out hijackers was developed by the Federal Aviation Administration but was put aside after a fierce internal debate.

The high-frequency ray system labeled "Operation Zeke" was one of several classified schemes considered by Dr. H. L. Reighard, who headed a task force formed in 1969 to counter an epidemic of Cuban-bound hijackers.

As developed by FAA scientists, the pilot or a crewman could actuate a pulsing ray which coursed between two set points in the plane. Anyone passing through the ray would be knocked unconscious.

The original plan was to put the two "ray boxes" near the door to the cockpit so the pilot could see the hijacker, perhaps lure him toward the cockpit and cut him down.

At first, there was enthusiasm over the system. It did not kill, but merely knocked out its victim. As one government aide put it, the hijacker "would wake up wondering what happened to him."

Crude prototypes were tested, but were never used on a hijacker. After the initial excitement over "Operation Zeke," however, doubts began to plague the FAA task force. What would happen, the scientists wondered, if the hijacker had an accomplice. The second man might panic and begin firing if he saw his companion unaccountably slump to the floor.

Or a malfunction might prevent the power ray from felling the hijacker immediately. In the second before he fainted, he could spray the passengers with bullets or explode the plane with a grenade.

After agonized discussions, the FAA finally decided the system had too many kinks for commercial airliners. The project was abandoned although modest research on such immobilizing techniques continued.

Now advocates are saying that the magic rays, if perfected, might have saved not only the 11 murdered Israeli Olympic athletes but the Arab terrorists who died with them. They say portable ray boxes might have been available which would fell multiple hijackers in such special circumstances as Munich.

Footnote: Dr. Reighard would say only he was distressed and disturbed that we had learned of "Operation Zeke." He insisted his task force had considered every feasible hijack control before putting aside any of them as impractical.

Guerrillas and Dope
Intelligence reports charge that the Palestinian guerrillas in Lebanon are hampering U.S. efforts to cut off the illegal flow of heroin and hashish from the Mideast to America.

"Turkish opium and morphine base is smuggled into Lebanon," says one report, "directly or through Syria." From Lebanon, some shipments are routed to South America, others to Rotterdam for transshipment to the U.S.

It's difficult to stop the dope smuggling out of Lebanon, suggests another classified document, because "internal security and the presence of about 30,000 armed guerrillas in the country pose a major threat to the government."

"The police are restrained from proceeding against the hashish production and trafficking in the Baalbeck area as there is strong parliamentary involvement in the traffic," the report adds.

In all fairness, the harassed Lebanese government has tried to control the Palestinians. But William Ruffum, the American ambassador, has pointed out that "the Lebanese authorities have not dared to set foot in any of the country's 15 refugee camps for the past two years."

As evidence of the trouble the guerrillas are causing in Lebanon, the Central Intelligence Agency has summarized the Palestinian offenses, notably:

"A. Customs evasion, nonpayment of postal and telephone dues, flouting of vehicles registration regulations."

"B. The presence in refugee camps of large colonies of alien squatters."

"C. Refusal by individuals to comply with court orders, pay fines or answer summonses, under the protection both of the camp police and of their fedayeen allies."

"D. Seizure and occupation of land outside the defined camp boundaries."

"E. Specific incidents of ill-discipline."

Reports also persist that the Palestinian terrorists are actually raising their arms money by smuggling dope. The intelligence data in our hands, however, fails to pin down this charge.

The U.S., meanwhile, has brought quiet pressure upon the Lebanese authorities to crack down on the smuggling. Although they may be somewhat helpless to prevent it, the classified documents recommend as a last resort that the U.S. "expose Lebanon" — one of our few friends in the Arab sphere — "in the world press as source and transshipment country for hashish and opiates respectively."

Freeman Editorials

The Greatest Memorial

With 10,000 guerrillas operating in Syria, that country has become the main target of Israel's new military, political and psychological drive to eliminate the Palestinian guerrilla movement. Syria is girding to meet the offense, as witness the dogfight with Israeli planes over the Golan Heights immediately following the Israeli attack on guerrilla camps.

There is also another factor. Syria has not sent its Soviet advisors away, as Egypt has. Nor does Syria, like Jordan and Egypt, support the UN Security Council resolution of 1967, which would leave Israel intact inside her 1967 frontiers. Syria is still dedicated to the same "war of liberation" as the Palestinians are.

These facts make for a possible war between Syria and Israel, in which Iraq might also be involved because it is ruled by rival clans of the Baath, or Arab socialist party. The Soviet Union has advised the guerrillas to abandon terrorism and turn instead to organized political activity under one unifying Palestinian organization. Soviet arms and advice is as far as that country has gone.

As these developments increase as an aftermath of the tragedy of Munich, a modifying voice has been raised in America. At the funeral in Cleveland of David Berger, one of the 11 Israeli athletes who lost their lives in Munich, Rabbi Lelyveld, past president of the American Jewish Congress, had these words to say in the eulogy:

"The greatest memorial to our martyrs will be the security of Israel and of the Jewish people that will only come with peace. We have a supreme right to grieve, but we must guard against generalizing our anguish into indiscriminate condemnation. The calls for violent reprisals that have come from a few unrepresentative extremists reflect the very inhumanity and insane criminality that we abhor."

The reprisals, like the terror, are self-defeating.

Stay Home, Girls

It could have been a great deal worse; as it is, it is lifelong shame, bitter disillusion and loss; an early goodbye to childhood for two beautiful teenagers who won't have that same life-is-wonderful glow any more. They are 13 and 15 and they came to the Big City (New York—but it could have been any big metropolis), and they hoped to connect with a rock recording group and gain fame and fortune in short order. They had run away from home.

There are these men and women who prowls the streets of the Big Towns, as vicious as sharks combing the water for smaller fish-flesh. They can spot innocent young visitors alone or star-struck teens or twenties or kids hoping to join real hippies, and they go to work.

Somehow two of these slick sharks managed to talk to the two teenagers and by clever conversation persuaded them they knew mutual rock friends. Promising careers for them, they took their money, then locked them in an apartment for 24 hours of horror, where they were forced to perform completely degrading actions. Afterward, the teenagers were sent out on the streets to solicit as prostitutes, with their captor watching and threatening.

If these teenagers had not been able to make their plight known to a plainclothes security man on the street, they might still be imprisoned slaves, kept on drugs so that they would conform, and when their "looks" faded, shipped out on a freighter to some notorious port. It sounds corny, like in the old movies, but is still tragically true, and there is no hero to come to the rescue.

Stay home, girls! The list of Missing Persons, mostly young, grows bigger daily in all the Big Cities.

TRIBUTE TO WALLACE — The Southern Governors paid a heartfelt tribute to Governor George C. Wallace of Alabama by electing him their chairman for the next year to express their admiration for his fight to recover from the assassin's bullets that felled him last May. They heard him say that if he recovers sufficiently from his wounds and paralysis, he would be interested in another try for the Presidency in 1976. He deserves admiration for his courage.

The EEC, through its internal trade and its preferential trade agreements with non-EEC countries, is becoming an enormous and increasingly exclusive trading bloc.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — What happened to American athletes at Munich is symbolic of larger things. The United States, you might say, is losing the economic Olympics.

The high attention given our trade problems with Japan has tended to obscure others that, in the long run, may be worse. We are being seriously squeezed down in our vital trade with the nations of the European Economic Community.

The EEC, through its internal trade and its preferential trade agreements with non-EEC countries, is becoming an enormous and increasingly exclusive trading bloc.

It already has special tariff arrangements with some 30 nations. The total will pass 50 when Britain enters the Common Market in 1973.

Even by itself, the EEC is today the world's largest trading unit, having surpassed the United States within the last 12 months.

The prospect, then, is that American exports will have a harder and harder time surmounting tariff barriers in Europe and elsewhere. We may be more dependent than ever upon our markets in Canada, the rest of the Western Hemisphere, and Japan.

Most disturbing in this situation is the EEC's consistent policy of protectionism in farm products. We are the world's most efficient producers of agricultural products, and of course the biggest exporter. Yet the nations of the EEC have firmly held to programs of support for their own farm products, even at cost of high European food prices.

Underlining the bad trade news for the United States is a new trade report from the Organization of Economic Cooperation and Development. It revealed a whole host of unresolved differences between the United States and the EEC.

William Eberle, President Nixon's special trade representative and the U.S. member of the group which produced the report, voiced keen disappointment with the findings. He was particularly distressed with the group's collective judgment that farm products are different from industrial products in trade terms, and that many years may have to pass before barriers to freer flow of agricultural goods are brought down.

Eberle's over-all complaint against the report was that it seemed to reflect a general tendency among the West European countries to stall indefinitely on trade readjustments of great importance to us. In a personal preface to the document, he wrote:

"I cannot conceal my regret that the report does not, in my judgment, reflect an appropriate degree of urgency or clarity, particularly with respect to long-range objectives for the international trading system."

The wide U.S.-European gulf is considered a very bad augury for a proposed major trade conference in 1973. Some experts are suggesting that parley may be a "last chance" to establish a reasonable, updated international trade framework. Today the outlook is dark.

Curiously, the troubling OECD report came out at just about the time President Nixon was highlighting our trade difficulties with Japan in his Hawaii meeting with Premier Tanaka.

In the long run, the Japanese are likely to be our allies in the struggle to keep world trade open and multilateral. They, too, have felt severely the exclusively trade policies of the European bloc.

For us the European trend has a disastrous portent, and we need every friend we can get in this battle.

Euromart Squeezes U.S.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — What happened to American athletes at Munich is symbolic of larger things. The United States, you might say, is losing the economic Olympics.

The high attention given our trade problems with Japan has tended to obscure others that, in the long run, may be worse. We are being seriously squeezed down in our vital trade with the nations of the European Economic Community.

The EEC, through its internal trade and its preferential trade agreements with non-EEC countries, is becoming an enormous and increasingly exclusive trading bloc.

It already has special tariff arrangements with some 30 nations. The total will pass 50 when Britain enters the Common Market in 1973.

Even by itself, the EEC is today the world's largest trading unit, having surpassed the United States within the last 12 months.

The prospect, then, is that American exports will have a harder and harder time surmounting tariff barriers in Europe and elsewhere. We may be more dependent than ever upon our markets in Canada, the rest of the Western Hemisphere, and Japan.

Most disturbing in this situation is the EEC's consistent policy of protectionism in farm products. We are the world's most efficient producers of agricultural products, and of course the biggest exporter. Yet the nations of the EEC have firmly held to programs of support for their own farm products, even at cost of high European food prices.

Underlining the bad trade news for the United States is a new trade report from the Organization of Economic Cooperation and Development. It revealed a whole host of unresolved differences between the United States and the EEC.

William Eberle, President Nixon's special trade representative and the U.S. member of the group which produced the report, voiced keen disappointment with the findings. He was particularly distressed with the group's collective judgment that farm products are different from industrial products in trade terms, and that many years may have to pass before barriers to freer flow of agricultural goods are brought down.

Eberle's over-all complaint against the report was that it seemed to reflect a general tendency among the West European countries to stall indefinitely on trade readjustments of great importance to us. In a personal preface to the document, he wrote:

"I cannot conceal my regret that the report does not, in my judgment, reflect an appropriate degree of urgency or clarity, particularly with respect to long-range objectives for the international trading system."

A JD Miracle on the West Coast

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Something of a miracle has taken place in the city of Pacifica, Calif., these past two years.

Juvenile delinquency dropped 15 per cent in 1970 and 23 per cent more in 1971.

At the same time, delinquency was steadily increasing nationwide — in many localities at a rate of 5 to 10 per cent every 12 months, year after year.

The outlook was not always bright in Pacifica, population 37,000, located near San Francisco. In 1969, juvenile arrests rose 35 per cent in these statistics compiled by the California Youth Authority.

Now it might be argued that the 1970 and 1971 declines were merely a return to normal from the major bulge in 1969, when arrests jumped from 821 to 1,130. But this theory doesn't explain away the 1971 figure, down to 72 arrests, almost 10 per cent below 1968.

This miracle apparently came about not through any great new discovery about young people or exotic new techniques. It seemingly resulted from the application of some rather well-known and not overly costly methods.

The old practice, apparently followed in many cities, was to warn an arrested youngster and send him home, or forward him to court. Neither alternative produced satisfactory results.

What Pacifica did then was sort out about a fifth to fourth of these youngsters, when arrested, and transfer them out of the police-court probation system.

Each of these selected youngsters, picked because they showed promise and because their delinquencies were not serious, was then turned over to cooperating groups.

Teachers kept a lookout in the schools for youths possibly headed for delinquency. These youngsters were then referred through their parents, not to the police, but to the assisting groups. Aid was confidential and free.

The boy or girl and parents, brothers and sisters would then sit down and discuss their problems with an advisor.

A boy would be sounded out for his interests, then invited into groups or projects that fit his goals.

A tutoring group was set up manned by college youths to help those youngsters having study difficulty.

An attempt was made to get these young people involved in community problems and youth activities. They treated birds after an oil spill. They took part in community fairs, rock concerts, dances and discussions.

Youths called "street-walkers" were hired to go out on the streets, in parks, shopping centers, the beach and other places where young people gather "to attempt to help angry youth verbalize their feelings and find alternate means of expression."

Pacifica isn't the only community using these techniques. Some cities add a health service which may aid in plastic surgery, removal of tattoos, sources of embarrassment or handicaps which may help to drive a young person into delinquency. Drug programs are a part. Some towns have teen pre-occupational workshops.

What makes the system work isn't clear. The first secret seems to be just that someone takes an interest in the person other than through a court sentence or probation.

The second secret seems to be the involvement of every possible concern group in a community in a program able to handle considerable numbers of delinquent or potentially delinquent young people with problems.

The third secret seems to be getting these youths involved in community problems and activities.

If the system outlined above were adopted nationwide it is estimated 200,000 fewer young people would end up in court each year. The saving in twisted lives could be incalculable.

State Correction Official... 'Ran a Little Faster'

By TIM SCHUSTER

POUGHKEEPSIE — "I ran a little faster than those who got caught," said Edward Elwin Wednesday morning to members of the Poughkeepsie Area Chamber of Commerce.

Elwin is Deputy Commissioner, New York State Department of Correction, and illustrated his contention that in speaking of prisoners "we are not talking about another breed of animal."

In addressing the group of businessmen at the Poughkeepsie YMCA he commented that if everything illegal each person present had done in his lifetime had been prosecuted, "there wouldn't be too many of us here this morning."

Elwin brought an impressive background of experience in penal work with him to his present post, including posts in Washington, D. C. and New York City and several directorships, but he noted that a "large percentage of friends where he grew up in Brooklyn had prison records."

And, in further driving home his point, Elwin said that there were very few "professional" criminals who get caught, and when they did there were many venues open to them to avoid lengthy prison stays.

The man that spends time in prison, he said, is the one who robs the corner grocery store,

"I say to these people, 'You have no talent for crooking,'" added the deputy commissioner.

As an example of a professional crook, Elwin recounted an experience in Brooklyn with the legendary bank robber Willie Sutton.

Sutton had been arrested and incarcerated at the Raymond Street Jail for possession of a handgun, with other more serious charges pending from other areas.

Elwin, in the course of his job, went to that jail for an interview with the famous prisoner. When Sutton was led out of his cell the jail attendants were addressing him as "Mr. Sutton."

"If you are familiar with the general attitudes of attendants you know that they do not address prisoners as 'mister,'" he recounted.

"Sutton was a professional."

That attitude of mind was borne out in the interview when Sutton told him that he had never had a partner on any bank job. "I have had employees, never partners," he affirmed.

The point was that the vast majority of people in prisons have limited skills, training and vision. The prison system has not met this challenge, said Elwin.

He recalled that in years past certain judges made a practice of dishing out sentences of 40, 60, or even 80 years "according to how many reporters were in court that day." He termed this length of sentence ridiculous, as the person would not even be eligible for parole until two-thirds of the minimum sentence had been served.

"Thus, we were not involved in rehabilitation, but in warehousing," he claimed.

"keeping a man on ice for most of his lifetime."

The average time a man spends in a New York State prison is now two years. "We must give this man a new set of options," said Elwin, emphasizing that prison can teach him a trade, but society is responsible equally in acceptance and hiring of that man.

He also expressed some skepticism about hiring staffs on the basis of length of service somewhere else, as in public school.

Hiring a teacher, for example, on Civil Service requirements would give preference to a person who had taught fourth grade for ten years, over someone who might be far more qualified to teach this kind of adult with less experience.

And Elwin asked for input for employers on the best methods of training and re-training men, as he cited employers as those engaged in training personnel in a much greater extent than any school system.

Environmental Groups Slate Convention

NEW PALTZ (Environmental Planning Lobby). The two groups, which have plan future strategy and activity. Both groups are actively involved in numerous phases of the ecology and conservation movement.

The New York State will hold their annual conventions this weekend at Lake Minnewaska.

ENVIRONMENTAL SESSION — State Environmental Commissioner Henry L. Diamond (seated, center) is shown conferring with officials in Kingston, Wednesday, following a talk before the Chamber of Commerce. Seated (L) County Legislator Melvin Mones (R-City), chairman of the Public Health Committee; Diamond, Planning Director Herbert Hekler, Standing (L) Fred C. Wadnola, acting environmental sanitary engineer and County Legislator Harry C. Kapreilian. Also present were Legislators James Gilpatrick (D-City) and James Carroll (D-City) members of the Public Health Committee. Diamond will appear this weekend at two conservation conventions at Lake Minnewaska. (Freeman photo by Kruhl)

The presence of the two widely respected conservation groups at Lake Minnewaska has attracted a number of state and local officials, as well as some nationally known environmentalists, to the two conventions. The list includes Henry L. Diamond, Commissioner of the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation; New York State Assembly Speaker Perry B. Duryea; Jerome Kretschmer, administrator of Westchester, Rockland and Putnam Counties; Katherine Wagenfolch of the Town of Rochester is the regional vice president.

The New York State Association of Conservation Commissions will hold its convention Friday. The Association, formed in June, comprises representatives from all 17 local conservation commissions throughout the state. It is expected that all ten commissions also sponsors workshops and commissions established since last year in Ulster County will have representatives at Friday's conference.

Friday's meeting at Lake Minnewaska will mark the first time that New York's local conservation commissions have met in one unified group. They will discuss ways to implement unified activities to achieve their goals in conservation and ecology.

Passage of the Environmental Bond Issue and the formation of new commissions will also be urged during the day-long session.

Duryea will deliver the luncheon address at 12:15 p.m. Friday. The afternoon session will be devoted to a series of regional workshops.

Ulster County is a part of Region 3, which also includes Dutchess, Orange, Sullivan, Westchester, Rockland and Putnam Counties. Katherine Wagenfolch of the Town of Rochester is the regional vice president.

The purposes of the state-wide association are to encourage the formation of local and county conservation commissions and to assist the more than 200 commissions that have already been established. The association provides information and clearinghouse services to its members, and also sponsors workshops and training seminars. The Environmental Planning Lobby (EPL) will begin its second annual convention Friday's meeting at Lake Minnewaska with a 10 a.m. welcoming address by chairman

David Sive. Commissioner Diamond will deliver the luncheon address at 1:30 p.m. Saturday.

Since it was organized three years ago, the EPL has established itself as one of the leading spokesmen on general environmental matters in New York State. The group had representatives working full time in Albany each day that the state legislature was in session this year.

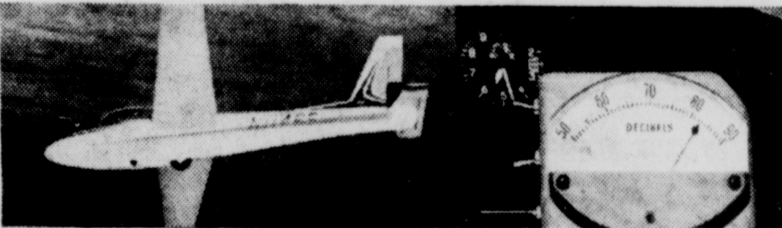

Among the goals of Saturday's session will be to determine what environmental issues should be given priority during the coming months, and to devise ways to exert pressure on the state legislature for passage of environmental improvement bills.

A series of panel workshops will be held Saturday afternoon and Sunday.

The public is invited to attend any of the sessions of either group Friday, Saturday and Sunday. The luncheon addresses Friday and Saturday are open to the public, as well.

The '73 Ford LTD, 65 decibels at 60 mph. Quiet is the sound of a well-made car.

At 60 mph a '73 Ford LTD rode quieter than an airborne glider.

On July 27, 1972, General Radio Co. tested a '73 LTD against an airborne glider. Both at 60 mph and with identical sound level meters. The result: the Ford was quieter. But the new LTD is more than just quiet. It is well made from its power front disc brakes, power steering and automatic transmission, standard equipment, to its luxurious, comfortable, roomy interior. There are 16 new Ford models to choose from and each will convince you that quiet is the sound of a well-made car.

'73 Pinto: When you get back to basics, you get back to Ford.

Ford, the company that built the first basic, solid, reliable car seventy years ago—has built today's basic, solid reliable car: Pinto. It's become America's top selling economy car for more reasons than economy. Here are some of those reasons: A 1600 cc. engine developed and perfected in over 10 years of actual driving. Rack-and-pinion steering. Solid welded body, electrocoated to fight corrosion. 4-speed transmission—lubed for life. Everything we've learned in seventy years of car making—all the basics—we build into every Pinto Wagon, Runabout and Sedan. When you get back to basics, you get back to Pinto.

Paltz Contract Settled

NEW PALTZ — After several months of widely publicized negotiations between New Paltz school officials and teachers an agreement has been reached on a teacher contract. However, now nobody's talking.

A joint statement by Dr. James E. Hicken, district school superintendent, and Paul Kerzner, president of the New Paltz Teachers Association, said only that an agreement was reached Tuesday night on a teacher contract for 1972-73. They expressed their pleasure that the administration and teaching staffs of the district "can return to the business of education."

Neither Hicken or Kerzner could be reached to learn details of the contract settlement. Mrs. Joan Bivona, president of the Board of Education, declined to comment on the settlement, saying that both sides had agreed to limit their announcement to the joint statement, which was revealed by a spokesman in Hicken's office.

Negotiations began several months ago to set up a contract to take effect on July 1, 1972, the beginning of the current school year. Negotiations remained deadlocked despite the efforts of a Public Employment Relations Board (PERB) negotiator. The school board issued a legislative decree establishing working conditions for teachers, a move permitted under the Taylor Law if after a legislative hearing the board determines a contract can't be established by bargaining. The teachers group protested the decree and reportedly filed an improper bargaining practices charge with PERB. It could not be learned if settlement of the contract will result in withdrawal of the charge.

Teacher pay and class size restrictions were reported to be the main stumbling blocks to an agreement. Starting pay for beginning teachers with bachelors' degrees for 1971-72 was $7,460. Teachers were seeking a five per cent raise which would have put the starting salary at $7,833. The board reportedly offered a half per cent less, which would have established starting pay at $7,795.

Murder, Manslaughter Indictments

KINGSTON — The Ulster County Grand Jury has issued 12 indictments, including two murder indictments and an indictment for manslaughter, first degree.

William Hill was indicted on two counts of murder in the Aug. 15 strangulation death of Alice Upright in her Cottekill home.

Jack Duane Lewis was also indicted on two counts of murder in the beating death on Aug. 29 of Colleen Thurin, 17, of New Paltz. Miss Thurin died several days later.

Robert Codero was indicted on first degree manslaughter, possession of a dangerous weapon and possession of a knife, stabbing death of Harry Zehnick Jr. outside the Belvedere Inn in the Town of Ulster on July 22.

District Attorney Francis J. Vogt handed up the indictments to County Judge Raymond J. Mino.

Card of Thanks — The family of the late George H. Ramming wishes to thank Dr. Levy, the staff and management of Orthmann's Sanitarium, the Rev. David Gaise, DD, our friends and neighbors for the kindness shown us and for flowers and cards received during our recent bereavement. —adv

Bridge Contract Is Awarded

POUGHKEEPSIE — The New York State Department of Transportation has announced that a contract for the reconditioning and preservation of a road and bridges in northern Ulster County has been awarded to Callanan Industries, Inc., South Bethlehem.

The work involved in the project will include the resurfacing of positions on Rt. 214 from Phoenixia north and Rt. 42 from Shandaken north, at a bid of $985,488.50. Additionally five existing bridges located on these routes.

Work on the project is expected to start within the coming week, according to M. N. Sinacori, regional director. It is anticipated, he said, that work to be accomplished during the remainder of this construction season will include the installation of some underdrain and the placement of resurfacing material on the more deteriorated portions of the project. Due to the lateness of the season, the contract will extend into the 1973 construction season, with the anticipated completion date of July 11.

The R&P Program was developed by the Department of Transportation to check the deterioration of the existing state highways and to additionally, save the expenditures of future highway funds for possible major reconstruction. Improvements for the motorist's safety and driving conveniences are incorporated as part of the program, Sinacori said.

Karl Wallenda Has Near Miss — DETROIT (AP) — High wire performer Karl Wallenda, who has been stalked by tragedy, escaped serious injury Wednesday night when he slipped and fell about 20 feet while descending from the wire at Detroit's Olympia Stadium.

The 67-year-old patriarch of "The Great Wellendas" was performing without a net in the city which witnessed his greatest tragedy 10 years ago when two members of his troupe died in a fall.

Wallenda was in obvious pain but talked to newsmen and took his bows before being transferred to Henry Ford Hospital for X Rays.

Doctors at the hospital said their first examination did not disclose any serious injury. Wallenda said he hoped to perform Thursday night. Wednesday's incident was only his third fall in a career which began at age 15.

A First at Gov. Clinton Market

Magic Pop-Up Gauge

It was announced today by John DeGasperis of the Gov. Clinton Market, 777 Broadway, that they are the first and exclusive market to introduce into the area the revolutionary new Magic Pop-Up Roasting Gauge.

DeGasperis said by using this magic Pop-Up Timer is one sure way to better flavor, more tenderness and greater meat yield, in fact he said it's the greatest aid to roasting since the oven. Forty-six million gauges have been distributed, proven, accepted and acclaimed.

The benefits from the use of this automatic Pop-Up Cooking Gauge are many and varied. The gauge is designed specifically as a cooking aid to the commercial outlet or the housewife who prepares the meat. The gauge performs this function more successfully than any other device or method known. Its precise and automatic operator signals proper doneness of the meat to an exacting degree of accuracy. The benefits are evident — more meat on the platter, minimum cook-out loss, fantastic yields, uniform "doneness" control. DeGasperis further added that a 28 pound roast would lose only three pounds 8 ounces in weight when using the Pop-Up Gauge. The same roast without the timer would lose 8 pounds 4 ounces in weight if overcooked. Regardless of the application of the Pop-Up Roasting Gauges, the guess work and variables are removed. The gauges "trigger" only on the internal temperature of the product, regardless of altitude, incorrect temperature controls, faulty ovens, type of utensil used and what have you. This guess work is eliminated with the insertion of the exclusive Pop-Up Roasting Gauge.

Country, Western on Wednesdays

Area Business News

Scandinavian Village Change

PHOENICIA Scandinavian Ski Village, in Phoenicia, which has featured Swedish music in its Northern Lights Restaurant since it opened a year ago, will change its tune to Country and Western on Wednesday nights.

Beginning Sept. 27, and every Wednesday thereafter, Scandinavian's popular restaurant on Route 28, will serve down-home cooking with Country and Western music. From 9 p.m. until 1 a.m., the surrounding hills will echo the tunes favored for listening and dancing by residents and vacationers in the Catskill Mountains.

Harry Vallin, owner of Scandinavian Ski Shops, announced today that there would be free admission and "free grub, lumberjack style." The kickoff night's menu will include country fried chicken, pork and beans and mountain biscuits.

Vallin delivered the cowboy invitation in his best Swedish accent. "Come dressed in your best Western boots, but leave the spurs home. Or dress like a dude, but not sloppy," he said. "Girls in white hats get free champagne. Come stag or bring a nag from the back woods or the hills. But come on out for an evening of friendship and fun."

On weekends, Scandinavian Ski Village will return to its native tunes with the "Troil Trio" playing for dining and dancing. Vallin, without the western accent, will join with harmonica and accordion.

The all-log Northern Lights restaurant, which features indoor and outdoor dining as well as a log bar, is part of the Scandinavian Ski Village complex. Also open on the property is the three-story, 20,000 square foot ski and sports shop, as well as a motel. The restaurant and other facilities of Scandinavian Village in Phoenicia are open seven days a week. Other Scandinavian Ski Shops are on East 59th Street in Manhattan; in Garden City, L.I.; and Scarsdale, Westchester County.

Jury Action Is Waived

NEWBURGH, N. Y. (UPI)—James Ware, 29, of Newburgh waived for Orange County grand jury action Wednesday when he was arraigned in City Court on a murder charge in the shooting of David Newkirk.

Newkirk, also of Newburgh, was shot to death Monday during an apparent argument. Ware was arrested the same day.

Police Press Search For Woman's Assailant

By WALTER S. CLARK

TOWN OF GARDINER — Police throughout the Mid-Hudson Valley today pursued a search for a man wanted for questioning in connection with the alleged raping of a 25-year-old housewife after he reportedly forced his way into her home on the Wawarsing Road in this community.

The woman told State Police investigators that she was raped at knifepoint by the unidentified man described as black and between the ages of 45 and 50 years old. The incident allegedly took place at about 12:15 Wednesday but authorities were not notified of the attack for about an hour, thus giving the assailant that time to make a getaway.

Senior BCI Investigator Michael Lisman of the Hurley State Police said that as the man fled from the woman's residence he allegedly stole a .22 caliber rifle that is believed to be loaded.

Authorities reported in bulletins that the assailant of the white woman is armed and considered dangerous. Anyone having any information about a man wearing clothing noted in alarms, to immediately call State Police at Hurley. Any information provided authorities will be kept in strict confidence, Lisman said.

According to police, the woman was approached by the man in a light car shortly after noon. The man asked about fishing on the woman's property and when he realized that her husband was not around he allegedly chased her around the outside of the house. She managed to run inside and lock the door, but the man allegedly forced his way in the residence through a window.

Brandishing a knife the intruder threatened the victim before raping her, authorities said. As he ran from the house he took a loaded rifle.

The man was last seen driving away in a light colored car.

State Police BCI officers and uniformed troopers, assisted by local authorities joined in the investigation and combed the area in the immediate vicinity of Wawarsing and Sparkling Ridge Roads, but found no trace of the much-sought man.

The name of the woman is being withheld.

A warrant has been issued for the arrest of the unidentified man.

Union Official Issues Statement

KINGSTON — Thomas McElrath, secretary of the AFL-CIO Construction Trades Council in the mid-Hudson area, has issued a statement denying that his organization had authorized use of AFL-CIO identification on picketing signs at Mammoth Mall.

A photo in the Tuesday issue of the Daily Freeman showed a picket holding a sign reading "Walter Reade Organization Unfair to AFL-CIO Labor, Albin H. Rothe Associates."

The picketing began as a result of a dispute between Rothe and Reade over a contract for construction and operation of Mammoth Mall. McElrath said that construction trades unions working there are taking no part in the dispute between the two men.

Reade also objected to the picketing sign, saying that he owned the Mammoth Mall company personally and that it had no connection with his theater chain.

Three Cited By Troopers

CATSKILL — Three Greene County men were cited Wednesday by State Police on charges of violating the State Conservation Law after they were found in possession of a deer during the closed season.

Leeds troopers identified the trio as Frederick Brown, 39, Thomas Hoose, 20, and Arthur Maxwell, 27, all of Catskill.

Arraigned before Town Justice Nicholas Bier, the men pleaded guilty to the violation.

Brown and Hoose were fined $102.50 each, and Maxwell was fined $502.50. The men have 30 days in which to pay the fines, authorities said.

Sergeant Richard J. Kubricky, made the arrest with Greene County conservation agents, during a routine check on a Freehold highway. Police said the deer, that had been shot with a .22 caliber rifle, was found on the front seat of the car in which the men were riding when stopped at 2 a.m. yesterday.

Blood Bank...Doubts Dispelled

KINGSTON tory, placed a hurried call to the emergency, and to restock continually recruiting new members. Anyone living or working in Ulster County, regardless of age or physical condition, may enroll and receive the many benefits of the non-profit organization. Further information can be obtained by contacting the Blood Bank. The Ulster County Blood Bank is a member agency of United Way of Ulster County.

If there were ever any doubts about the value of the Ulster County Blood Bank, they were certainly dispelled during a recent check of its files for the names of members who were soon due, or overdue, to contribute their pint of blood. Since many members of the Blood Bank work at either Kingston or Benedictine Hospitals, calls went out immediately over the public address systems of the two facilities, asking for emergency donors.

Normally, the City of Kingston Laboratory keeps enough blood in reserve to handle the scheduled operations and unexpected emergencies that may occur at the city's two hospitals over a two or three day span. But, on one particular night recently, an emergency arose that almost decimated the reserve supply of blood. New blood was needed quickly.

Miss Anne Foster, immunohematologist at the city laboratory, had been found to meet the emergency, and to restock the city lab supply for the remainder of the week. Dr. Herbert Derman, director of the City of Kingston Laboratory, took special note of the emergency and the Blood Bank's reaction. He expressed his particular thanks to those donors who responded, in some cases at considerable inconvenience. Since it was founded two years ago the Ulster County Blood Bank has furnished more than 50 per cent of all the blood used in Ulster County. By the end of this year, it will have furnished more than 1,000 pints. The Blood Bank, also, is

Savago Sets Philharmonic Week

KINGSTON designating the week of Sept. 24-30 as Hudson Valley Philharmonic Week in Ulster County.

In doing so, Savago stated, "The Hudson Valley Philharmonic has developed a regional orchestra of high calibre and stature, and has sought to encourage cultural activities in the Hudson Valley through its musical programs of inschool concerts, chamber music, subscription concerts and orchestra in progress.

"The Hudson Valley Philharmonic has also encouraged youth as well as the adult segment of the population in the enjoyment of these activities. Savago concluded saying, "The Hudson Valley Philharmonic contributes much to the valley. I therefore encourage the residents of Ulster County and urge business, industry and civic organizations to give the full measure of their support to the Philharmonic Orchestra and its activities."

PHILHARMONIC WEEK — A decree designating Sept. 24-30 as Hudson Valley Philharmonic Week is handed down by chairman of the Ulster County Legislature Peter J. Savago (C) as Mrs. Amos R. Newcombe, (L) ticket chairman for the annual subscription drive looks on and Mrs. Roy L. Ickes, subscription chairman accepts the decree.

Comedy-Drama Slated At Anna Devine School

RIFTON A comedy-drama in four acts, "Frolic Politic '72," will be presented Sunday, Sept. 24, 2:30 p.m., at the Anna Devine School, Rifton. The Goddard-Riverside Players of the Camp for Older Adults at Rifton, are producing the play. All seats are free.

Featuring leaders of the National Organization for Women at one of the Miami political conventions, the play opens with rousing songs as the women select one of their number as candidate for United States President for 1972.

The action then moves back to the year 1872 when the colorful Victoria C. Woodhull ran for President against General Grant and Horace Greeley. In the third episode, Susan B. Anthony, famed advocate of women's rights, escorts her three sisters into a Rochester barber shop where they register and vote in the 1872 election.

Miss Anthony is tried and convicted in the final act for breaking New York State law of the time. She appeals to the newly passed 14th and 15th amendments to the U.S. Constitution and claims the right to vote under Federal law.

Prof. Robert Grosshans, Speech Department, State University at New Paltz, directs the play. He also directed the Goddard-Riverside players in their production of High Tor in September, 1971.

Gilman Issues 'Amnesty' Charge

MIDDLETOWN
Benjamin A. Gilman, Republican candidate for Congress in the 26th District, charged today that his Democratic opponent Congressman John Dow is afraid to tell the voters where he stands on amnesty.

"Our reluctant congressman says the issue should wait until after the war," noted Gilman. "I find no objection to that. But the voters in the 26th District are entitled to know today just what he would do about amnesty after the war. I have made my position in opposition to unconditional amnesty clear," said Gilman.

"Despite some recent contentions by the Democratic Presidential nominee Sen. George McGovern's campaign workers, the amnesty issue was injected into Campaign '72 by Sen. McGovern when he approved the pro-amnesty plank in the Democratic platform," said Gilman. "Our incumbent congressman's own party made it one of the 'real issues.'"

"The incumbent congressman, who persists in criticizing me for not speaking out on the Vietnam war, has apparently not been reading his newspapers or listening to his area radio stations. Over the past few months I have on numerous occasions, emphatically underscored my concern and desire for returning our troops home as quickly as possible, conditioned upon the prior release of our prisoners of war and without making any concessions for overturning the South Vietnamese government," said Gilman.

"Perhaps our incumbent congressman needs to be reminded that during the past six years I have been addressing myself as an assemblyman as I was elected to do, to issues affecting my constituency with regard to New York State."

"But one thing is certain," he added, "if I were in Congress during that period I would have done more than speak out on national and international issues. I would have more to show by way of meaningful legislation than the mere four laws which our incumbent has produced in his six years in office."

Gilman rapped Sen. McGovern's New York State Presidential campaign aides for "speaking out before they had the facts." The McGovern New York City office earlier claimed that "the Democratic Presidential candidate had never proposed blanket amnesty for draft evaders."

"Apparently New York City McGovern staff has much more to learn about the man they are aiding," suggested Gilman. He recalled at least three times in which Mr. McGovern had advocated such amnesty:

● On page 8, of the "McGovern Encyclopedia" which is being distributed now, under the heading "Patriotism and Dissent," McGovern proposed: "Amnesty to be granted to those who, on the basis of conscience, have refused to participate in the Vietnam tragedy. Applicable to all men now serving jail sentences for refusing induction as well as the thousands of young men who have crossed the borders of the United States to avoid fighting in what we know to be an immoral war."

● In the New York Times of Sept. 22, 1971, McGovern declared, according to a UPI story, "he would declare a general amnesty for draft evaders."

● In the New York Times of Oct. 3, 1971, in a story by Christopher Lydon headed "Student Cheering McGovern pledge of Draft Amnesty," he is quoted in a speech at Black River Falls, Wis., as pledging to grant a general amnesty to draft evaders, including the thousands of young men who have exiled themselves abroad rather than serve in Vietnam.

"It's time that our incumbent Congressman, and his McGovern associates, clarified their stands on this important issue for the voters," Gilman concluded.

Dow Calls for Congressional Action

WASHINGTON, D.C. Rep. John G. Dow today warned that prompt congressional action is "absolutely necessary" to prevent millions of Social Security recipients from losing benefits from other federal programs because of the recently enacted

20 per cent social security increase. "Many federal programs designed to help the elderly use the amount of the person's income as a standard of eligibility," Dow said. "When a social security increase raises a recipient's income, he might find his benefits from other programs reduced or eliminated."

Dow said major areas where the social security increase may reduce benefits would be in programs concerning veteran's benefits, pensions, low-rent public housing, old-age assistance, food stamps and Medicaid.

"I believe when Congress enacted this increase the purpose was to raise the standard of living for our older citizens living on fixed incomes," Dow said. "It would be very sad if this desperately needed increase was negated by reductions in other federally financed benefits for the elderly."

Dow has just introduced a comprehensive piece of legislation which would require federal agencies not to take the 20 per cent social security increase into account when computing a person's income when determining one's eligibility to participate in federally financed programs.

Scores Uganda Leader

WASHINGTON, D.C. Democratic Congressman John G. Dow has denounced statements made recently by the President of Uganda, General Idi Amin.

"General Amin has praised Hitler, saying he had been 'right' when he 'burned the Israelis alive with gas in the soil of Germany,'" Dow explained, adding "I was shocked and outraged when I heard of Amin's remarks. I have been in touch with the State Department and I am assured that the Amin regime receives no military aid from the United States."

"The U.S.," Dow continued, "must stand forcefully in the path of this kind of fanaticism whether it surfaces in the ravings of a madman in Uganda or the violence in the Olympic Village at Munich."

Dow also condemned Amin's pledge to aid the Palestinians "to remove all Israelis from the Middle East."

Of Amin, Dow said, "While we are clearly dealing with a seriously unbalanced person, we have seen once in our generation what can happen when absolute power falls into the hands of a deranged man."

Statistics confirmed, and it should be known, that any other kind of collision, if inevitable, is better than hitting an oncoming vehicle. If both are doing 40 MPH, the impact is that of 80 MPH. If there is no other choice, hitting an inanimate object cuts the impact to that of your own speed, which you may have reduced by hard braking and pulling to the right. Make sure to get out of the way of following cars before hard braking. What a help in such a situation if you were not speeding and had your safety belts or harnesses buckled! # Ulster Board Issues Notice Appeal

KINGSTON — Ulster County Board of Elections has issued an urgent appeal to all who intend to vote in the Presidential Election Nov. 7, to answer immediately a second notice advising the prospective voter of the cancellation of his or her registration.

Of 71,139 first notices mailed out in a routine check of registration addresses, 3,900 were returned by the Post Office as undeliverable. The reasons for non-delivery included, moved, not living at address listed and deceased. The Post Office was instructed not to forward these first notices in order to establish legal residences of those on the registration rolls.

Those 3,900 were subsequently sent a second notice by the Board of Elections with instructions to forward to the addressee. Those who have not as yet returned or answered the second notice to the Board of Elections may lose their vote for improper registration.

Those prospective voters who have moved from one residence to another must re-register and list their new legal residence.

The final day for Central Registration at the Board of Elections Office, Sixth Floor, County Office Building, Kingston is set by law for Sept. 23.

There are three additional opportunities to register in local polling places in the 20 townships and the City of Kingston.

Saturday, Sept. 30 from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Monday, Oct. 2 from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Tuesday, Oct. 10 from 12 noon to 10 p.m.

The Board of Elections noted that some residents may have received a cancellation notice in error or may have been inadvertently listed by the Post Office as not residing at their established place of residence. If this has happened, the resident must notify the Board of Elections immediately in order that the matter may be corrected.

Places of registration for Sept. 30, Oct. 2 and 10 follow:

Town of Denning, Dist. 1, Town Hall, Claryville; Dist. 2, Alfred Hutter Hall, Sundown.

Parete-Savo Wedding Held In Rosendale Church

Mr. and Mrs. John Parete of Buck Road, Stone Ridge, announce the marriage of their daughter, Christina Agnes, to Robert Michael Savo of 12 California Avenue, Albany. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Savo of 24 Lourdes Road, Binghamton.

St. Peter's Church, Rosendale, provided the setting for the Nuptial Mass and double ring wedding ceremony which took place August 19 at noon. The Rev. Arthur Nazio, chaplain of Seaview Hospital, Staten Island, officiated.

Traditional wedding selections were played by Miss Catherine Kelly.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an ivory silk organza gown. The slightly scooped bodice was embellished with appliques of Venise lace. The gown featured a choker band of Venise lace. Matching lace encircled the wrists, hem, and cathedral length train. A Venise lace cap held her silk illusion veil and she carried an heirloom mother-of-pearl prayer book, covered with cascading stephanotis and greens, with ivory streamers.

Rose Marie Parete, sister of the bride, Buck Road, Stone Ridge, served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were the Misses Catherine Parete, sister of the bride; Teresa Savo, and Rita Savo, both sisters of the bridegroom.

The attendants were attired in apricot chiffon and green print voile gowns. Voile ruffles accented the necklines front bodices and wrists.

The honor attendant carried a bouquet of apricot carnations and green daisies and the bridesmaids carried bouquets of green carnations and apricot daisies.

The cousin of the bridegroom, Richard DeOrazio, Binghamton, served as best man. Ushering were William Parete, brother of the bride, Stone Ridge; Thomas Mahenich, cousin of the bridegroom, Binghamton; and Harold Parete, brother of the bride, Stone Ridge.

A reception was held at The Boiceville Inn.

Mrs. Savo was graduated from Rondout Valley High School, class of 1967 and in 1971 from Russell Sage College — Albany Medical College School of Physical Therapy. She is now on the staff of Albany Veterans Administration Hospital as a physical therapist.

Her husband is an alumnus of Catholic Central High School, Binghamton, and State University of New York at Cortland where he earned a BS degree. He is now in his third year of Doctoral studies in the field of Biology at SUNY at Albany. His major field of study is in the area of Genetics and he holds a teaching assistantship in Biology.

After honeymooning in Jamaica, the couple will reside at Cameo House Apartments, 12 California Avenue, Apartment A-211, Albany.

Dear Abby

Need for Affection Is Not Inherited

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
© 1972 by Chicago Tribune
N. Y. News Synd., Inc.]

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of three children. A boy 9, and two daughters, 6 and 3. The two older ones are my natural children; Tammy, the youngest, we adopted when she was five days old. Believe me, when I tell you that I couldn't love Tammy more if she were my own flesh and blood. But she is my problem.

Tammy seems to be crazy about men! Any man. If a strange man smiles at her in the grocery store, Tammy will grab his hand and want to go with him. If a man comes to our home, whether she has ever seen him or not, Tammy wants to climb on his lap and kiss him. She makes a big hit with all the men because she is affectionate, but it worries me.

Do you think her real mother could have had this trait? We know that Tammy's mother was a runaway girl, and she had Tammy when she was 15. I can't help wondering if this aggressiveness with men could have been inherited from her mother? (Our older daughter, who is not adopted, is shy, and she won't go near a man, unless she knows him very well.)

Please tell me what you think, Abby. Is there some way I can break Tammy of being so forward with men? Or is it hopeless because her mother may have had this problem?

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Stop worrying. Tammy's reaching out for male attention, affection and approval is NOT an inherited trait. (Such behavior is learned — not inherited.) Question: Is Tammy's father giving her enough attention and affection? If not, ask him to work on that. And you should train Tammy to be less forward and more reserved with men.

DEAR ABBY: Why do I not have the right to say to a fat person, "My, you're fatter, aren't you?" People seem to think it is all right to say to me, "My, you're thinner, aren't you?"

Not everyone who tells me I am thinner is fat, so I can't accuse them of being jealous, but I resent the remark anyway.

I am and always have been slender, but I look well in my carefully selected clothes and receive many compliments. Why do some people think a thin person doesn't mind being told he looks thin?

Can you explain the psychology back of this dumb kind of remark? It has bugged me for years.

THIN IN EL CERRITO

DEAR THIN: Most people equate fat with ugly, and thin with beauty. Of course excessive thinness is no more desirable than excessive obesity, but it has been said (humorously) that a woman can't be too rich or too thin. If you don't have to count your calories, count your blessings, lady.

DEAR ABBY: To the parents of "Twenty Six and Single": I didn't write that letter, but I could have. I know you love your daughter, but you will lose her if you don't accept the blessing that she is a happy, productive person even tho she isn't married and has no prospects yet.

She may not need you to look after her children, but she needs you in other ways. Would you rather that she had an unhappy marriage, or one that ended in divorce? Or that she just lived with her boy friend?

Making your daughter feel that she has "let you down" because she isn't married yet will give her feelings of guilt, worthlessness, and insecurity, which are bound to make her less attractive to any man she might meet.

Making her feel loved, worthwhile and secure will give her a glow that will attract the right kind of people to her.

Pray for the strength to avoid prying questions about boy friends and dates and prospects of marriage. If your daughter has any good news, you will be the first to know. TWENTY SIX AND SINGLE, TOO.

DEAR ABBY: I was surprised in reading your column to note that you referred to a man who would not converse with his wife's parents as "a person who sits in company like a wart on a pickle." It brought memories of my dear mother. She was the only one I ever heard use that expression.

FLORENCE

DEAR FLORENCE: Your dear mother and mine must have gone to the same school. That's where I heard it.

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 69700, L. A., CALIF. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Doing the Right Thing

By ELIZABETH L. POST
© 1972 Emily Post Institute, Inc.]

Gone are the days when a "proper" introduction was considered essential before a girl could go out with a new boy. "Proper" meant that the young man had been introduced to the girl and her parents by a mutual friend, and his character and activities were known and approved by both.

Today, with youngsters living away from home, this is obviously impractical, and boys and girls often meet through blind dates. These dates can be great fun, and many have led to marriage, but they can also be total disaster. A little knowledge beforehand of what is expected and what to avoid can help to make a blind date successful.

How would you answer the following questions?

1. Q. When you accept blind date, do you assume that it will lead to further dates? Yes
No

2. Q. If you accept a blind date, are you afraid your friends will think it is because you couldn't get a date any other way? Yes
No

3. Q. If a blind date never calls you back, does it necessarily mean that he didn't have a good time? Yes
No

4. Q. Do you feel you can forget the manners or morals you adhere to in your own group because you need never see a blind date again? Yes
No

5. Q. If your blind date doesn't live up to your expectations, do you stop making any effort to be entertaining yourself? Yes
No

6. Q. Should you ever accept a blind date when you don't know the person arranging it, and he doesn't know the date personally? Yes

No

7. Q. Must you go along with whatever a blind date wants to do, whether you approve or not? Yes
No

8. Q. Is it best to go on a blind date as a twosome? Yes
No

If you answered "No" to all the above questions, you have a healthy attitude to blind dates, and should not hesitate to accept them when you are satisfied with the integrity of the one who arranged them.

There is a tendency to either expect too much or too little from a blind date. But if you can regard it as simply a pleasant way to spend an evening and treat your date with the same respect and interest that you would anyone you had known before, you will be treated in the same way in return.

Whether you are a teenager or a parent with young people in the family, you will find the suggestions in my booklet "Etiquette Tips for Teenagers" helpful and useful. To get a copy, send thirty-five cents in coins to cover booklet and mailing expenses, to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of The Freeman.

New Paltz Country Fair Is Planned

"New Paltz will have its own Country Fair this fall," announced Mrs. John Wyman, chairman of the ways and means committee, New Paltz Study Club, after a recent meeting at the home of Mrs. Merton DePuy, Butterville Road. The event will take place Thursday, Oct. 19, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the red barns on the Harold Lents property, 275 Main Street. Fun for everybody will include food and fortunes, balloons and grab bags, handmade sweaters, miscellaneous "treasures," antiques, original paintings, flower arrangements, and surprise attractions to be announced later.

"The Kitchen Table" will feature food of all kinds from homemade bread and pies to packages of fresh chestnuts, snacks to be eaten on the spot, and an interesting assortment of kitchenware. Mrs. William Waters and Miss Mavis Taylor will be in charge. Mrs. Albert Metz and Mrs. J. Reed Hummer will handle miscellaneous items, while Mrs. William Dietz and Mrs. Hubert Stern-Montagny will present the hand crafts and jewelry tables. Mrs. Merton DePuy will be in charge of the grab bags and balloons. Original paintings by artist members of the Study Club and their husbands will be offered for sale, a project chaired by Mrs. G. J. Felahi, assisted by Miss Lucile Stephens and Mrs. Frank Knievel. Antiques will be exhibited and offered for sale by Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Beatty, Mrs. Evelyn Rode and Mrs. Elsie Caiazzi, and by Mr. and Mrs. Tim Collins of Dust and Rust. Mrs. Jesse E. DuBois will have fashion fortunes to offer. A special selection of table mats will be available under the auspices of Mrs. John Jacobson, the president of the Club, assisted by Mrs. William Seitz. Proceeds will benefit the Elting Memorial Library, the Ulster County Girl Scouts and one of the cottages of the Highland Training School for Children.

VFW Auxiliary Slates Conference Here

The 13th annual Fall Conference of the Department of New York Veterans of Foreign Wars Ladies Auxiliary will be held in Kingston for the first time on Sunday, Sept. 24, at Holiday Inn beginning at 8 a.m. Theme of the conference is

"together for Peace and Progress." Mrs. Sidney (Julia) Lane, member of the Joyce-Schirick Auxiliary 1386 and past department president, is chairman of the event. Co-chairman is Donald (Emma) Coon, department historian and member of Red Hook Auxiliary 7765. Mrs. Albert DeLuca is serving as luncheon chairman; Mrs. Edward Arnold as special project chairman; and Mrs. Thomas Hughes as registration chairman. Other local members will also assist.

Keynote speaker will be Helen Murphy, past department president. National representative will be Florence Taylor, National Council member, Area C. Department Commander Earl Stock Jr. of Fort Plain and Department President Mrs. Bert (Anna) Coons of Red Hook will speak on flood relief. Lawrence Quinlan, sheriff of Dutchess County, will talk on the Drug Problem. Other guests include past national president, Mrs. Alex Cottone of Olean; and National Council member, Mrs. Richmond Taylor of Binghamton. Department chairmen will present their programs for the year. Auxiliary members from all counties in the state will be present. Preceding the conference there will be a Council of Administration meeting on Saturday afternoon, and the Red Hook Auxiliary 7765 will hold a testimonial dinner in Red Hook honoring their member, Department President Mrs. Coons.

Massed Choir Concerts Set

The Massed Choir of the Kingston Area Council of Churches will present a series of three concerts this year at Fair Street Reformed Church. The first program will be performed Sunday, Nov. 12. At that time, numerous selections, many of them anthems requested by members of congregations throughout the city, will be sung.

Percy Gazlay, minister of music at Fair Street Church, will conduct the choir. The choir, formed in 1970, has brought to this community outstanding programs for those interested in sacred music. Area residents will recall that this fine choral group sang before a standing room only audience when they performed the Easter cantata, "The Cross of Christ," by Donald Romme. Area singers interested in singing with the group are invited to attend the rehearsals held at Fair Street Church. Rehearsals for the first program are scheduled Sunday afternoons from 3 to 5. The rehearsal schedule for the two remaining programs will be decided upon at a future date.

PAW Program Listed

Two women poets will present an evening of readings from the work of women writers Saturday at Woodstock Artists Gallery. Sponsored by Performing Arts of Woodstock, the poets are Daniela Gioseffi of Brooklyn Heights and Holly Beye of Woodstock. They will read from the work of such diverse writers and actionists as Sylvia Plath, Joan Didion, Gwendolyn Brooks, Katherine Mansfield, anarchist Emma

DANIELA GIOSEFFI
Goldman and many others. It will be an evening devoted to an exploration of female sensitivity to such matters as love, equality, war, child raising, both today and in the past.

Daniela Gioseffi, who received a grant this year from the New York State Council on the Arts, last spring led a poetry reading walk honoring the world-famous Brooklyn Bridge. She has read extensively in New York and several times in Woodstock under Marguerite Harris' sponsorship. Holly Beye writes many plays that are performed in little theatres around the country, has five genetically unrelated cats, and at present is working on a film script about divorce from the woman's point of view. Further information is available from Mrs. Henry Chalfant or Mrs. Edith LeFever of Woodstock.

CO-SPONSORING the annual bazaar with the Ladies Society of Santa Maria this month was the St. Mary's Benevolent Society. Traditionally held the first weekend after Labor Day, the men pitched in and helped prepare food also. Some of the Society members working that day at the bazaar were (l-r) Joseph Bonvita, treasurer; Eugene Perry, president; Charles Ferrara, co-chairman; and Charles Alecca, vice president. # Club, Organizational Activities Announced

JOE LIGUORI

BERNIE TRAVIS

Guest Artists Named For Benefit Program

What promises to be super New York entertainment will be featured this Saturday when Walden Humane Society holds its second annual dinner dance at Spruce Lodge, Route 17K, Coldenham, Montgometry.

The evening will start with a cocktail hour at 7 p.m. Dinner will be served at 8 o'clock. Highlighting the event will be appearances by Gretchen Wyler, television, Broadway stage and movie star; Bernie Travis, one of the most popular comedians in the business; and talented tenor Joe Liguori, proprietor of Liguori's Restaurant in Rosendale.

Gretchen Wyler who just returned from a tour was most recently understudy for Lauren Bacall in the Broadway hit, "Applause." She is an ardent supporter of the Walden Humane Society.

Bernie Travis made his television debut on the Merv Griffin Show and was signed to star as Lenny Bruce in the Movie, "Dirtmouth," a role which won him the highest critical acclaim and skyrocketed him to fame. His Pentagon Papers album is soaring to the top, making him much in demand.

Rosendale's Joe Liguori, another veteran entertainer, has appeared several times on the Jack Paar Show and has performed with such celebrities as Greer Garson, Judy Garland, and Patrice Munsel, to name a few. He studied music and voice privately for six years with Mrs. Louis Coselotti who also taught Maria Callas. Liguori attended the Julliard School of Music. He has just signed a five year contract with NBC Records.

Coordinating the event as master of ceremonies will be Dom Formisano who is postmaster of Gardiner. This is a return engagement for Formisano who emceed the program last year. Having appeared in many clubs throughout the Hudson Valley and in Connecticut, he is known in this area as the "Singing Postmaster."

Various awards will be made throughout the evening and there will be music for dancing.

Reservations may be made by contacting Florence Thiele, president, Walden Humane Society, 23 Rifton Place, Walden.

Round, Square Dance
The Bushkill Rod and Gun Club of West Shokan will sponsor a round and square dance at the Olive Free Library on Saturday from 8 to midnight. Music for dancing will be provided by Don Barringer and the Moonlighters.

Concert Friday
"Suite for a Sunday After" by Albert Barr, composer and resident of West Shokan, will be one of the selections played by Carl Davis, pianist, in concert to be held in the Community Room, Olive Free Library, West Shokan, Friday at 8 p.m.

Carl Davis, graduate of Ontario High school, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester S. Davis, will play selections from Franz Schubert and Hugo Wolf. He will also accompany, on piano, Roger Owen Childs, tenor, who will sing three arias selected from the operas of Donizetti, Leocavallo, and Puccini.

The public is invited. Admission by donation to the Piano Fund.

To Meet Tonight
Judea Shrine No. 12 will hold its regular monthly meeting this evening at 8 o'clock at Masonic Temple, 31 Albany Avenue. All members are requested to attend. Refreshments will be served.

Garden Club Meeting
Saugerties Society of Little Gardens will meet Wednesday, Sept. 27 at 1:30 p.m. at Methodist Church, Washington Avenue. Speaker will be Mrs. George Jorgensen, a member of the Society. The program will be "Method of Drying and Arranging Flowers."

Members recently took a motor trip to Millbrook to tour Innisfree Garden. The inclement weather did not prevent the group from enjoying the mood of the Garden. Members were delighted with the grounds around the Beck Gallery which was designed in what is sometimes called in the East a "cup garden." Luncheon at Cottonwood Inn preceded the tour.

Activities Planned

Upcoming activities were outlined at the September 11 meeting of St. Mary's Altar Rosary Society. A cake sale is scheduled for Sunday, Sept. 24 at the side entrance of the rectory. On Sunday, Oct. 29, a spaghetti dinner will be held under the chairmanship of Mrs. Angeline Carputo and Mrs. Julia Tiano. Mrs. Gertrude Ferguson is in charge of the penny social to be held November 18. The public is invited to all events.

Anniversary Meeting

La Leche League will begin its third year in Kingston when its members celebrate its second anniversary Tuesday, Sept. 26 at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Richard Metzger, 129 Downs Street. Mrs. Gordon Usticke will lead an informal discussion on the "Advantages of Breast-feeding to Mother and Baby." The discussion will include the scientific advantages, nutritional and physiological, the emotional advantages, and the practical and economic advantages.

Nurses to Meet
Licensed Practical Nurses of Ulster County Division will meet this evening at 8 o'clock at Benedicline Hospital, first Spellman floor.

Social Scheduled
A penny social sponsored by the Rosary Society of Immaculate Conception Church is scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 7 in the school hall from 7 to 9 p.m. Anna McCullough and Martha Vitkoski are in charge. Public is invited.

Fund Raising Events
Several fund raising events were planned at the fall meeting of Troop 12 and Post 12 Mothers Club.

A rummage sale is slated for Thursday and Friday, Sept. 28-29 at Utility Platers, St. James Street, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Those wishing to make donations should contact Mrs. John Balogh of High Falls.

A cake sale is planned for Friday, Sept. 29 at Governor Clinton Market. Mrs. Leslie Lewis is chairman.

New Members Tea
A New Members Tea, sponsored by Sisterhood of Temple Emanuel, will be held at the home of Mrs. Clara Meisner, Sherry Lane, Kingston, on Tuesday, Sept. 26 at 8:30 p.m. All women who are interested in becoming affiliated with the Sisterhood are invited to attend.

Penny Social
The annual penny social of St. Peter's Altar-Rosary Society will be held Saturday, Sept. 23 from 7 to 9 p.m. at Mulry Hall, St. Peter's School, Rosendale. Refreshments will be available.

Roast Beef Dinner
Barbecued roast beef, catered by Nelson Shultis, will be featured at the community dinner to be held at Overlook United Methodist Church, Woodstock, on Saturday from 5 to 7 p.m. The public is invited. Tickets will be available at the door.

Student Council Meeting Friday

Student Council of Rondout Valley High School will hold its first "get together" of the 1972-73 school year Friday.

To make his year's opening event a little different, the organizers, under Student Council's new Faculty Advisor, Donald Rothman, have planned a combination Folk Concert, Talent Show, and dance. The location will be outdoors in the rear parking lot of the high school, weather permitting.

Both students and teachers are donating their time and talents to make the evening a success. Refreshments will be available. The event is limited to RVHS students and their guests.

KHS Reunion
Kingston High School class of 1952 will hold its 20th reunion Friday and Saturday at the Capri in Port Ewen. A cocktail party is planned for Friday at 7 p.m. with dinner scheduled Saturday at 7:30 p.m. Music will be provided by Papa Bear's Orchestra. Reservations must be made immediately with Lew Kirschner of Lew's House of Delicacies.

Interns Handle 200 Consumer Cases

POUGHKEEPSIE — The Summer Intern Program in the Dutchess County District Attorney's office has just been concluded, resulting in the handling of about 200 consumer complaints, according to DA Albert Rosenblatt.

The program was inaugurated following the receipt of a federal grant and further financial assistance from the Poughkeepsie Area Fund, all providing stipends for eight students attached to the DA's office this past summer.

Rosenblatt commented that it was a project "of immense benefit to the District Attorney's Office and, ultimately, to the county residents." The last of the eight students has departed to return to law school.

The students served as junior assistants, with each student assigned to work with a particular assistant district attorney.

"The assistants are about as overworked as anyone can be," said Rosenblatt, "and this helped relieve some of the work load for the three month period."

The interns assisted in general legal work, factual inquiries, investigations, and consumer complaints.

Consumer complaints involved a host of situations including disputes between buyers and sellers; warranty issues; magazine subscriptions; mechanical problems; returns of merchandise.

In most cases the interns served as mediators and were quick to learn that neither side was to blame but could not resolve the matter by themselves.

But with the help of a third person acting with official status, matters were frequently resolved to the satisfaction of all parties.

In cases where there appeared to be fraud of the type that falls under the jurisdiction of the Attorney General, references were made.

And where it appeared that the matter was criminal, the District Attorney's Office proceeded further.

Rosenblatt stated that the project was "most successful and will definitely be repeated next year."

UNITED WAY AUDITORS — The United Way Audit Committee, responsible for the accounting of all campaign funds, has been announced by Alfred J. Brocco, campaign chairman. Members of the committee include (L-R) Samuel Benicase of Kingston Trust Company, Guy Seligman, Savings and Loan Association; Ronald Lifshin of Rondout National Bank and John D. Taylor of Ulster Savings Bank. (Tom Reynolds photo)

Film Program Is Scheduled

RHINEBECK — If you haven't been to a good "orgy" lately there is an open invitation to the public to attend one in Rhinebeck from Upstate Films Ltd.

The directors are billing it as "an orgy of foreign films" Sept. 22-24. The fledgling theater has prospered mightily of late with a $10,000 grant from the New York State Council of the Arts, and its orgy will be produced with the cooperation of Joel Zucker, professor of film at Hunter College, New York City.

The theater, a non-profit organization, hopes to begin a regular foreign film series soon and will use attendance at the September performances as a gauge.

Steve Leiber of Upstate Films is interested in audience suggestions. "These are the cream of the crop," he said regarding the foreign fare, "and we could never afford them without the Council's help."

The theater is already planning its first "special" offering — two evenings of films by and about women to be shown two Wednesday evenings in October. Information on that will be disseminated at a later date.

Here is a brief rundown on the September weekend offerings: "The Bicycle Thief" (1949 directed by V. DeSica) — This classic of Italian neo-realism is a simple story of the never ending struggle for existence . . . an Academy Award winner acclaimed by Bosley Crowther as one of the ten best films in the past 40 years.

"Shoot the Piano Player" (1960 directed by F. Truffaut) — Truffaut skillfully mixes parody and thriller in the story of a dropout concert pianist turned piano player.

"Beauty and the Beast" (1946 directed by Jean Cocteau) — This beautiful adaptation of the classic legend is a personal statement by the great French poet.

"Triumph of the Will" (1934 directed by Leni Reifenstahl) — Judged to be the most effective use of film for propaganda ever made. Commissioned by Hitler. Reifenstahl had 30 cameras and a staff of 120 at her disposal. The result is astounding and is perhaps the best historical record of the psychology of the Third Reich.

"Los Olvidados" (1950 directed by L. Bunuel) — The Young and the Damned. Bunuel's unsentimental portrayal of Mexico City, of poverty and delinquency, integrates naturalistic action with surrealism. An explosive, effective combination of dream and reality. Plus a program of shorts including "Entr'Acte," "Meshes of an Afternoon," "Totem."

Zucker will be one hand at the Saturday and Sunday shows to discuss the films with the audience at the 26 Montgomery Street theater (Route 9).

The schedule: 7:30 p.m., Sept. 22 — "Beauty and the Beast" and "Los Olvidados." 7 p.m., Sept. 23 — "Bicycle Thief" and "Triumph of the Will." 7 p.m., Sept. 24 — "Shoot the Piano Player."

Historian Marks Two Buildings

RHINEBECK — Rhinebeck Historian Judge DeWitt Gurnell has once again delved into the past to provide information on two more buildings he feels are deserving of an historical plaque in the Village of Rhinebeck.

These are the law offices of Robert Winne on Mill Street and the law office of Herman Tietjen on East Market Street.

The Winne building, now occupied by both Winne and attorney Carl Ulrich, was built on land owned by Col. Henry Beekman in 1688. It was given to the Dutch Reformed Church as the Bowerie (church lands) and later by Francis Livingston, state senator.

The land was then taken by Howard Asher, who built the brick building next to his home. Asher owned the present Legion Park land and Crystal Lake, where Rhinebeck children swim, was known as Asher Pond.

In 1888 Dr. Frank Traver, local veterinarian lived in the building as well as David Beach, who operated the first electric plant in the village.

He, with Asher, were witnesses of the First National Bank of Rhinebeck robbery in the early 1900s, which took place across the street.

The next owners were Richard Turten and Peter Snyder, who built the Hub Garage, first auto repair and machine shop in Rhinebeck. Snyder and staff built Vincent Astor's miniature railroad that ran through his Rhinebeck estate.

The Tietjen home and offices have a similarly colorful past.

The land was owned by Janet Livingston Montgomery in the 17th century, and in 1790 was bought by Jacob Kip and his grand-nephews John, Ralph, and William Kip.

The house was built around 1812 and was located next to Peter R. Livingston's home, who was Lt. Governor of New York and also served as State Assemblyman and State Senator.

He lived next to the Tietjen house while his new home, Grasmere, was being rebuilt. John Drury, the following owner, was voted into village office in 1834 and, as a member of the village Fire Committee, he recommended the buying of the first fire apparatus called Pocahontas, which is still maintained as a hand pumper. The present owner, Herman Tietjen, is a town justice and serves as counsel for State Assemblyman Emeel Betros.

Recruit Meetings Scheduled

RHINEBECK — Informational meetings to gain young recruits for the Indian Guides and Indian Princesses programs will be held in September at several locations around Northern Dutchess County.

Boys and girls in grades one through three and their fathers are invited to join the Poughkeepsie YMCA sponsored programs. The purpose is to provide an opportunity for the father to schedule time to pursue interesting activities with his son or daughter.

The program theme is based on American Indian lore. Activities typically include hikes, camping trips, Indian crafts, learning Indian ceremonies, and related topics.

The informational meetings are scheduled for 7:45 p.m., Sept. 23 in the Chancellor Livingston School in Rhinebeck; 7:45 p.m., Sept. 26 in the Mill Road School in Red Hook; and 7:45 p.m., Sept. 27 in the Ralph R. Smith School in Hyde Park.

Another meeting will be held at 7:45 p.m., Oct. 2 at the Poughkeepsie YMCA.

In Any Season of the Year ... Start the dinner, not the fire.

With the Electric Char-B-Que, turn a dial and the "fire" starts. It's that simple. And because it comes with permanent briquets there's no charcoal to lug home, no ashes to clean. No dangerous starting fluids.

But the really terrific thing about it is that it not only makes barbecuing easier, it makes it better.
Come in and we'll show you more than a few reasons why.

The Electric Char-B-Que. It uses regular household current for use outdoors or on your apartment terrace. Or inside your fireplace.
One year warranty. Rust-proof aluminum housing

Synagogue News

Ahavath Israel

The holiday of Succos, or the Feast of Tabernacles, will begin Friday, Sept. 22. Services will be held at Congregation Ahavath Israel, 100 Lucas Avenue, Friday 8 p.m.

An Oneg Shabbat will follow the services, which will be the welcoming of the congregants for the New Year by Rabbi and Mrs. Harry Z. Schechtman. Everyone is welcome to the Oneg Shabbat. To take part in the observance of the Succa, the hut with which the holiday is celebrated, everyone will first be invited into the Succa for Kiddush, and then adjourn to the auditorium for the Oneg Shabbat. Services will be conducted by Dr. Harry Z. Schechtman, rabbi of the congregation, assisted in the liturgy by Cantor Mordecai Edry.

The Mourners Prayer will be offered for the following whose yahrtzeiten will be observed in the coming week: Paul Black, Rose Cohen, Sadie Fabricant, Charles Goldstein, William Gordon, Wlademer Goruchowsky, Pearl Klatsky, William Rapaport, Nathan Seigal and Pauline Stein.

Religious services for the Succos Holiday will continue Saturday 9:30 a.m., Saturday 6:45 p.m. and Sunday 9:30 a.m. A kiddush will follow in the Succa after each service. Children's services will be held 10 a.m. every holiday morning.

There will be no Hebrew School classes during the entire week of the Succos holiday. School will resume on Monday, Oct. 2.

Temple Emanuel

Sukkot evening services will be held at Temple Emanuel, 243 Albany Avenue, Friday 7:30 p.m. Services will be conducted by Rabbi Jonathan Eichhorn assisted by Dr. John Park and the Temple choir. Rabbi Eichhorn will speak on "A Fragile Life. Holiday candles will be lighted by Audrey London. Stanley London will lead the congregation in the Kiddush prayer.

During services the memories of the following persons will be invoked: Tillie Naigles, Jacob Forst, Louis Eppenstein, Louis Breuer, Henrietta Oppenheimer. After services the congregation is invited to the Oneg Shabbat sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. London in honor of Jonathan London's forthcoming Bar Mitzvah.

Sukkot services will be held Saturday 10:15 a.m. The second session of Religious School will meet 11:10 a.m. to 1:25 p.m. Saturday.

Hebrew classes will begin Monday afternoon, Sept. 25. Hebrew grades land three will meet 3:45 p.m. and grades two and four from 4:50 to 5:50 p.m. Confirmation class will meet Wednesday, Sept. 27, from 7 to 9 p.m.

Agudas Achim

Sukkos services at Congregation Agudas Achim, 254 Lucas Avenue will be conducted as follows. Friday 6:45 p.m., Saturday and Sunday at 8:30 a.m. and 6:45 p.m. Rabbi Howard Gershon and Cantor Herman Slomovits will officiate. Light candles Friday 6:35 p.m. and Saturday 7:35 p.m. Services are conducted daily at 7 a.m. and 7 p.m.

We'll Net the News for You!

Everyone Goes Fishin' In Our Classified Section

—AND THEY CATCH WHOPPERS! Bargains in furniture, cars, TVs, pets, tools . . . everything. Cast your eyes on Classified and pull in a beauty. Or place an ad and reel in real results!

At Lake Patzcuaro, Mexico, the fishermen get the big ones . . . and the little ones, too. Because the unusual "butterfly" nets, shown above, let practically nothing escape.

Which is pretty much the way we handle the news at The Daily Freeman . . . using the fine mesh of inquiry, interviews and just plain bird-dogging after events. Very little gets away from us, so very little gets away from YOU!

As an extension of your eyes, ears and legs, our reporters cast a mighty fine net around sports, local affairs, politics, women's activities. And bring the news to the surface, bright, shining and fresh. New catch every single issue!

Floyd: 'He Did Not Carry Me Like Last Time'

NEW YORK (UPI)—Floyd Patterson won't have to wear a mustache and beard today but he'll probably have on a pair of dark glasses to hide an ugly left eye that forced an end to his fight with Muhammad Ali Wednesday night in Madison Square Garden.

"I'm ashamed whenever I lose a fight," said Patterson after Dr. Harry Kleiman stopped the scheduled 12-round fight at the end of the seventh as Floyd's eye was slashed and swollen shut.

"I hope you (press) will see this fight as I saw it. He did not carry me like the last time.

I'm still ashamed that I lost but there will be no more mustache and beard."

That old disguise that Patterson once used after being humiliated by Sonny Liston was part of the old Floyd Patterson. The new Floyd Patterson, the man who no longer fights with the whole world on his shoulders, put up a game effort against Ali for five rounds. But Ali, disinterested in the early going, put an end to Patterson's endless dream of getting another shot at the heavyweight title in the sixth round.

Told by his trainer Angelo Dundee, that he was behind on points, Ali rushed from his corner at the start of the sixth and nailed Patterson with a hard combination. Floyd never recovered. A hard right caught Patterson on the left temple and he came off the ropes with his eye puffed and bleeding.

When the final round began, Patterson's eye already was closed and Ali was hitting him with everything he threw.

Three more minutes of leather from Ali and that was enough for Floyd. "The cut was too close to the eyeball," said Dr. Kleiman, who stopped the fight just before the bell sounded for the eighth. "I didn't want him to suffer any permanent damage."

Ali, who back in 1965 as champion punished Patterson for 12 rounds and felt no remorse about it, was sympathetic after it was over.

Floyd Patterson fought a great fight," said Ali. "He stunned me a couple of times and he was winning the fight. Floyd, you keep in training and I'll give you a rematch. You deserve it."

Actually Patterson was behind on two of the officials' cards and the other judge had the fight even through the seventh.

"I felt I was holding my own," said Patterson. "As the fight progressed I tried to step up the pace but I got hit in the eye and that was it."

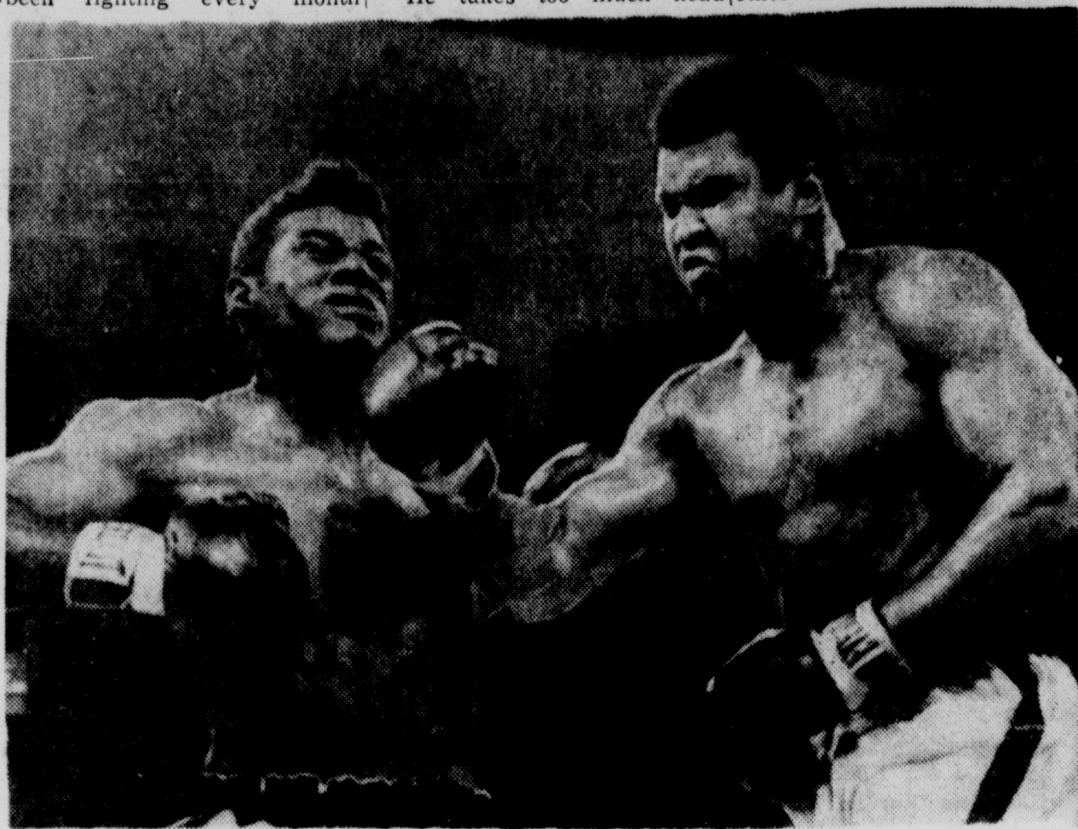

"I felt I should have thrown more punches, done more fighting. I'll do it next time."

So, there will be a next time for Floyd.

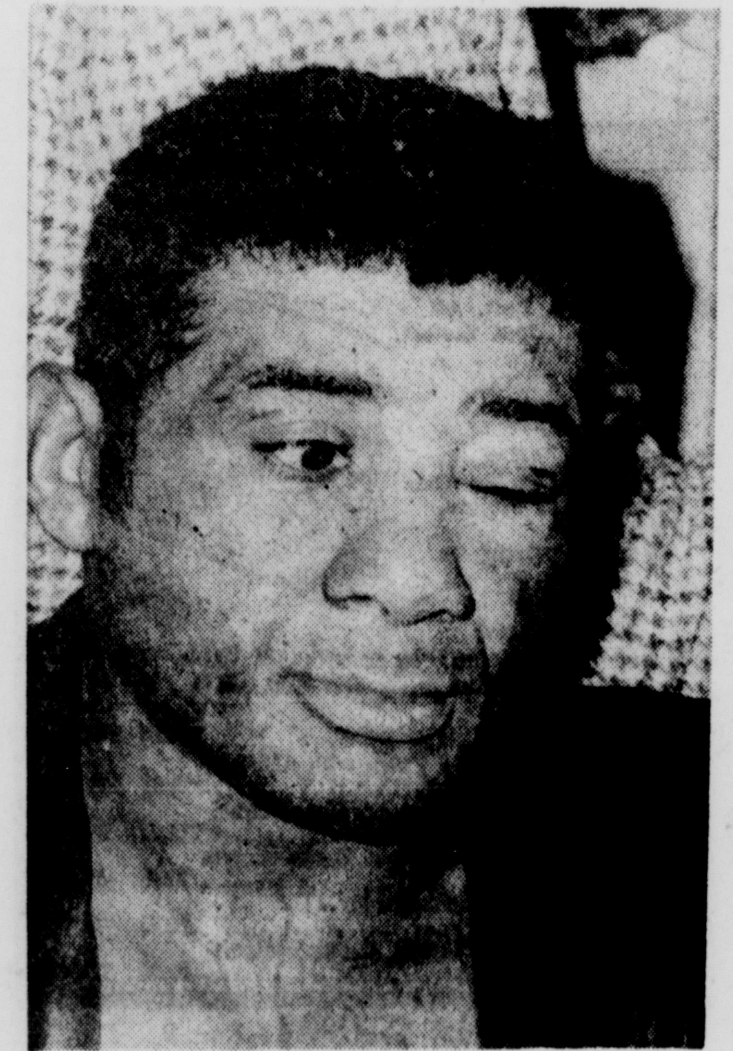

Ali will fight on too. Next stop will be Johannesburg, South Africa against Al Jones on Nov. 18.

"The press will say this guy is just another washed-up fighter," Ali said. "Everybody's been duck'n him. He's good. How about Joe Frazier?"

"I'm ready right now. Ready to go at it. But he's stalling. He says I don't deserve a 50-50 share. We'll he's crazy. I've been fighting every month against the best ranked heavyweights in the world and who's he been fighting. Terry Daniels? Ron Stander? He takes too much head whupping to fight every month like me. He ain't nothing. Nothing but the champion and the best until Ali proves otherwise."

ONE PICTURE — The fight is over and Floyd Patterson suffers in silence. Patterson's bout with Muhammad Ali was stopped after seven rounds because of that cut over Floyd's eye. (UPI)

Vaudeville Back At the Garden

By BOB STEWART
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Metropolitan Opera opened its season before an adoring audience Tuesday night, and on Wednesday night another adoring audience greeted the revival of vaudeville in Madison Square Garden, with the intrepid trouper Muhammad Ali bringing his own style back to New York, where in the dead days he would have headlined at the Palace.

It was a fine show, with all the trimmings of King Lear as portrayed by Floyd Patterson—the long ago champion hearing once more the cheers of his former subjects.

If there was a touch lacking, it was that of comedy, for on this night Ali was not there. Not the Ali who had humiliated Floyd seven years ago, but the compassionate Ali, who tried to convince the 17,378 who paid their way in at prices as high as $75, that this was a difficult fight.

"I was scared," Ali said, the marvelous eyes rolling. "He shook me up twice. Going into the sixth he was winning!"

And, you know, Patterson at age 37, was not far behind, even though he had not hurt his man at all, even if he had, by Ali's gracious admittance, shook him up.

Patterson, still the Don Quixote, still pursuing a dream only he can read or understand, really thought he had done well and when Ali proclaimed a rematch was in order, Floyd with complete innocence and insouciance said "I'll be better next time."

How many more next times can there be for Floyd? And how many more charades can there be for Ali?

That "next time" is no closer. Ali seems to want to beat upon poor old Patterson once more, after taking a short sojourn. Politics permitting, to South Africa to beat upon one Al Jones.

But the crowd had a good time. Ali won. Floyd didn't get banged up too much. And Joe Frazier as lingo put in an appearance before the bout began, laughing so hard he almost cried as Ali charged at him—but was restrained by a handler weighing far less than the 188½ pounds that Patterson would later pit against the 218-pound Muhammad.

The 28,777 fans at Fenway Park Wednesday night thought they saw the end of the race in the American League's Eastern Division.

Their Red Sox are only a game ahead but there was definitely an air of celebration at the old but cozy park as their favorites jolted Baltimore twice 9-1 and 4-0 and dealt a severe blow to the Orioles' hopes for a fourth consecutive pennant.

The guy who got most of the cheers was veteran Luis Tiant, who pitched a four-hitter in the second game and is now 9-1 since Aug. 1. He got a magnificent standing ovation when he came to the plate in the seventh inning that even impressed a veteran like Luis Aparicio.

"I've never seen an ovation like Tiant got tonight in my 17 years of baseball," Aparicio said. "Everybody was standing and shouting and cheering. It was great. That's the kind of thing that makes this the best baseball town in the country."

Of course, it's not over yet but the race now seems to have boiled down to a two-team struggle between Boston and Detroit—two clubs who have seven games left against each other and open a four game series in Boston tonight.

Baltimore and New York, which was trailing Milwaukee

They Celebrated In Boston

By United Press International

2-0 in the fourth inning Wednesday night when the game was rained out, are both four behind Boston in the loss column and they face an uphill struggle.

Detroit, which beat Cleveland 4-1, is two behind Boston in the loss column with a 78-66 record to Boston's 78-64.

Aparicio, who had three hits in the doubleheader, said, "we've got a long way to go yet, but the way we're going we can do it. A lot of people gave up on us two months ago but now everybody else is going to have to play catchup ball to overtake us. This gave us a big lift."

In the first game, Carlton Fisk and rookie Dwight Evans hit two-run singles as Boston exploded for seven runs in the fourth inning while routing Jim Palmer. In the second game, Tiant boosted his record to 13-5 with his four-hitter while besting Mike Cuellar. Evans had a homer and a triple in the game.

Evans, who won't be eligible for the playoffs, is filling in for the injured Andy Kosco and Manager Eddie Kasko said, "now it looks like it's going to be tough to get him out of there."

Duke Sims doubled in the tie-breaking run and winning pitcher Woody Fryman added a two-run single in the three-run ninth inning as Detroit downed Cleveland. Fryman, now 8-2, pitched a six-hitter.

Martin, still annoyed about Detroit's doubleheader loss Tuesday night, had Chuck Seelbach listed in his starting lineup before the game but put Fryman in the lineup when he went up to home plate.

"I didn't know I was going to start," Fryman said. "Martin told me to warm up with Seelbach before the game. I don't ask questions, I just warmed up. After all, the manager is running the ball club and I just follow orders."

Martin said, "I just wanted to show (Ken) Aspromonte that two can play this game. I like Kenny personally but I just wanted to show him some thing."

Martin was upset because Aspromonte yanked Bill Butler in the third inning of Tuesday night's second game even though Butler had given up only one hit. But Butler had walked five so it's a little difficult to understand why Martin was so upset and why he compared pace Kansas City past California.

Wednesday night. But then, that's Billy Martin.

In the other games, Oakland beat Chicago 6-3, Minnesota edged Texas 3-1 and Kansas City beat California 9-2.

The Oakland A's just about knocked the White Sox out of contention in the Western Division, stretching their lead to six games and reducing their "magic number" to seven with the victory over Chicago. Sal Bando and Reggie Jackson homered and Rollie Fingers pitched 3 2/3 innings of shutout relief as the A's handed Wilbur Wood, who's won 24, his 15th loss.

Minnesota exploded for three runs in the eighth inning to beat Texas. Bobby Darwin hit a bases-loaded single to highlight the rally. Jim Perry, who went eight innings, and Wayne Granger combined on a three-hitter.

John Mayberry hit a grand slam homer in the first inning to highlight a six-run rally and upset and why he compared pace Kansas City past California.

Seaver Had His Fastball

By The Associated Press

Question 1: Did Tom Seaver have a good fastball?

Question 2: Did the Pittsburgh Pirates clinch the National League East pennant?

If you know the answer to No. 1's "yes," you can rest assured the answer to No. 2 is "no."

Seaver had his fastball and his hard slider and his curve Wednesday night and the result was the New York Mets temporarily beached the Pirates' flag-clinching party by beating them 4-1.

The Pirates need just one victory or a loss by the second place Chicago Cubs, but the victory isn't coming easily.

Pittsburgh took a 1-0 lead in the first inning on Vic Davalillo's triple and Rennie Stennett's single but Seaver bore down.

The Mets scored three runs in the third, two of them on Duffy Dyer's triple. Jim Beau-champ added a run with a sacrifice fly. The fourth New York run was driven in by Jim Fregosi's single in the fourth.

Elsewhere in the National League, Cincinnati beat San Francisco 8-6; Atlanta thumped Houston 13-6; Philadelphia edged St. Louis 2-1; Chicago downed Montreal 6-2 and Los Angeles clipped San Diego 5-3.

Cincinnati is another team with champagne on ice; the Reds' magic number is two. Pete Rose capped a four-run rally in the eighth with a two-run triple. Johnny Bench had hit his 36th homer to give the NL West-leading Reds a 1-0 lead and Bobby Tolan added two more with his eighth homer.

Atlanta scored all 13 runs in the second inning. Felix Millan drove in five with a triple and single and Dusty Baker hit a three-run homer. The Braves sent 19 batters to the plate against four Astro pitchers. Houston's Cesar Cedeño hit a two-run homer and Doug Rader hit a three-run shot.

Steve Carlton outpitched the man he was traded for and won his 25th for Philadelphia. Rick Wise of St. Louis was touched for a run in the first and another in the sixth. Tommy Hunter drove in the first Phils' run and scored the second.

Milt Pappas won his 200th career victory when the Cubs beat Montreal. He was backed by Glenn Beckert's two-run single and solo homers by Billy Williams and Ron Santo. Mike Jorgensen and Ron Fairly hit homers for the Expos.

Manny Mota's two-run pinch single in the eighth broke a tie for a Los Angeles victory.

Buchanan Stops Ortiz After Six

NEW YORK (UPI)—Thirty-six year old Carlos Ortiz, twice the former lightweight champion, was unable to come out for the seventh round Wednesday night and thus former lightweight champion Ken Buchanan of Scotland was the winner.

Ortiz, obviously exhausted although he had opened a cut beside Buchanan's right eye in the fourth, failed to answer the bell for the seventh round.

Buchanan, who lost his title here to Roberto Duran in June, and at age 27 in fine physical condition although not punching sharply, swarmed over Ortiz throughout the fight. The Scotsman was the aggressor throughout and Ortiz, who came into the ring with nine straight victories on his comeback trail, was simply unable and his age to withstand the steady pressure Buchanan exerted.

Buchanan took this fight on short notice. Ortiz had originally been scheduled to oppose Duran, but when an attack of flu forced Duran to withdraw, Buchanan willingly stepped in on short notice. That the notice was short was obvious in that Buchanan did not punch sharply but that his superior condition, and his age, were just too much for Ortiz to overcome.

Ortiz stamina was obviously sapped by the speed of foot which Buchanan employed. After the cut opened under Buchanan's eye in the fourth, either by collision of heads or a left hand by Ortiz, Carlos attempted vainly in the fifth to capitalize on the eye injury but Buchanan's speed nullified the effort. That exhaustion throughout the round and again in the sixth deprived Ortiz of the last vestiges of stamina a willing but aging fighter could sum-

Guess Who's Gone Again

SAN DIEGO (AP)—Running back Duane Thomas' flirtation with the San Diego Chargers is stagnating—again.

The Chargers were hoping a romance was ready to blossom when the taciturn but talented athlete worked out with them for the first time Tuesday and told reporters he was ready to play.

But Thomas, who became San Diego property in a July 31 trade with Dallas, jilted them Wednesday. He skipped a player's meeting and the two-hour morning workout after a meeting with head Coach Harland Svare.

Thomas, who had visited the Chargers on three previous occasions without staying, said he was going back to Dallas. But as of Wednesday night he had not checked out of his motel.

Svare gave this account of what transpired at their meeting:

"Duane Thomas came into my office this morning and asked to talk about a contract. I told him I don't talk about contracts—Gene Klein and others do. He persisted and I said no. He said he was going home. I said I have a team of 40 men to worry about, not one player."

Svare said negotiating sessions had been set up in recent weeks with Klein, the Charger owner, but that Thomas did not show.

Ellenville Faces Moment of Truth at Highland

By STEVE KANE

KINGSTON
As UCAL Saturday No. 2 rolls around just about all the games will carry more than passing interest, and though scores should loosen up a bit there's hardly a team that won't be psyched for this weekend.

Ellenville moves into the spotlight to take on defending champion Highland in Big Blue territory. Other first week winners Pine Bush and Red Hook square off while Marlboro risks its 1-0 record at Liberty. Walkkill goes to Ontario and Rondout visits New Paltz.

Are the Ellies for real? It sure seemed that way against Liberty, but Lem Atkin's crew will be a severe test for the league's flashiest starters.

"We'd just like to make amends for last year," Ellenville coach Dave Frank proclaimed. "We'd like to beat the teams that beat us."

That would make the Blue Devils 8-1, but Frank isn't looking quite that far ahead. Commending his defense for their strong showing against Liberty's potent attack, the coach noted the offense could have been better.

"We stopped ourselves on occasion," he said, "but part of that was due to Liberty's size. Highland doesn't have that size — they offer a different problem and should be more aggressive."

Aggressive the Highlanders were against Rondout, particularly after the half, but it won't be any easier trying to score against the Ellies than it was against the Ganders.

The key to this one is in Ellenville's offensive line. If they can hold back the Blue Chargers long enough for Kyle Hoar to go to work . . . Red Hook should be counting pretty heavily on two straight Saturday. Pine Bush didn't exactly blow Ontario off the field last week, and the Raiders' own showing in Walkkill had to build some confidence. With the passing game the Raiders can throw at the Bushmen it does seem like the schedule's best bet, but then again those are also the ingredients for an upset.

The Marlboro-New Paltz game was expected to be a listless struggle of also-rans, but the Dukes came up with a pretty sophisticated performance that netted better than 300 yards. If that was just a result of the competition, the truth will be revealed in Liberty.

Woody Witherwax's giants have got to be angry, and the thoughts of losing two in a row are very unpleasant.

"Marlboro's gonna have it tough," said one UCAL coach. "I wouldn't want to play Liberty now," declared another.

And yet a third said: "Woody's the kind of guy who'll run up 100 points on you just to show he's better."

The Dukes will have their backs against the wall in this one, but the Charlie Jones-Steve Foster quarterback battle should be quite a matchup.

Football's "new look" appears in Boiceville this weekend where the wishbone-T meets the soccer-style place kickers. The line seems to favor Walkkill here, as the Panthers are bound to have gotten some of the kinks out of their new offense.

"I think we have the advantage," said Walkkill's Jerry Trezza. "We can score, and our past mistakes are no mystery as we showed in the second half against Red Hook."

Trezza's probably right. Quarterback Mark Walther may throw two or three passes this game, and the Panthers know they need a win to keep from falling too far behind. Joe Phelan will lead the OCS ground game, and if it's close, the home fans may get a thrill from kicker Grant Cormick.

Will the New Paltz Huguenots score? It seems unlikely unless the Rondout Ganders fumble in their own end zone. The aftertaste of a tie is bitter in Mickey Million's mouth, and the Ganders would like to erase that from memory.

Look for the Rondout offense to start rolling, and maybe a long-gainer or two from Bill Wilkins. A good Hugie showing would be the biggest surprise of the day.

SHOWING OFF —Kingston High School Soccer Coach John Hunter (R) eyes the form of Kent St. John as he sends the ball to a waiting teammate during recent practice session. ## Kingston Soccer Goal: An Improved Record

KINGSTON
Kingston High School's varsity soccer team swings into action Friday afternoon at Loughran Park against Webetuck and Maroon Coach John Hunter is hopeful that his club can improve on its 7-6-3 mark of last year.

"We have a very tough 15 game schedule," Hunter pointed out. "If we can avoid the injuries that hurt us last year we could spoil the plans of some very strong teams."

Hunter lost 11 men from the 1971 club including seven starters. And from the group gone will be Steve Davis, Pete Fowler, John Gorman, and Pete Boyd, each of whom was all-Dutchess County Scholastic League.

Back are eight lettermen. Hunter talked about his plans for the season:

"Captain Charlie Barton is being switched from wing to center half. Gerry Murphy will go to center full from halfback. "John Robinson will be the line," Hunter continued.

"Around him will be wings Phil Bosch and Sonny Roncarcio. The other inside will be either Pete Roncarcio or John Ivankovic."

"At the halfback position, Charlie Barton will receive aid on the left from Bobby Graves. On the right, Ian Horowitz and Dave Kaplan are fighting for the position. Mike Provenzano and Steve Kantor give us more very good halfbacks."

Hunter has second thoughts about his fullbacks. They're "inconsistent," he admits.

"Gerry Murphy is the only man get. Seniors Randy Hobbs, and Kent St. John look good, but juniors Eric Greenwald, John Oberlander, Tim Matthews, and Jay Werbalowsky are pushing them and fighting for a starting job."

Goalkeeping might have been a trouble spot since No. 1 man Tim Priest suffered a broken hand over the summer forcing Hunter to switch him to wing. But Mike Turner, a first year man, has impressed and Jack Abernathy provides depth.

Others on the club are linemen DMave Decker, Brian Blowers, Rich Wood, Scott Anderson, and Brian White.

"We have a good line, team depth, and a tremendous attitude, but no speed and little experience," said Hunter. "If we can get off to a good start and build our confidence, we could go a long way."

The schedule:

Namath Sues Shirt Maker

NEW YORK (UPI)—Joe Namath today charged a shirt manufacturer with trying to pull the wool over his eyes.

The New York Jets' quarterback filed a suit in Manhattan Supreme Court asking that Rex International, a producer of boys and men's knit shirts, be required to pay him at least $50,000 and royalties for endorsements of their apparel.

Namath maintained that the firm, a division of Spartan Industries, 450 W. 33rd St., had agreed to pay him a minimum of $100,000 for advertisements in addition to a bonus on sales. He contended that the outfit only paid him $50,000 with no royalties.

The manufacturer has 20 days to answer.

Illini Slate—Plain Suicide

By United Press International

Looking for an underdog to adopt as your team for 1972? Well, look no further than Illinois.

The Illini have the classic "suicide schedule" with six of the nation's top 20 ranked teams comprising their first six games. Last week it was Michigan State, ranked No. 12 in this week's ratings, and the Illini were soundly whipped, 24-0.

This week it's none other than top-ranked Southern California as Illinois' opponent, and in the ensuing weeks the Illini's foes include 17th-ranked Washington, 13th-ranked Penn State, fifth-ranked Ohio State and 11th-ranked Michigan.

Needless to say, the Illini don't expect to be favored in any of those games. With the big bad Tojans in town this week Illinois may be lucky to score, although our Midwest predictor doesn't expect the Illini to be blanked two weeks in a row. His guess is the Trojans by a 33-14 margin.

Two of the nation's perennial top-ranked teams—Notre Dame and Texas—open their seasons this Saturday and, surprisingly, our man in the Midwest likes Northwestern to dump the Irish. The Wildcats put up quite a fight last week before bowing to Michigan, 7-0.

Our Southwest seer likes Texas to win big over Miami (Fla.), however.

The United Press International regional forecasters are Fred McMane of New York (the East), David Moffit of Atlanta (South), Ed Sainsbury of Chicago (the Midwest), Mike Rabun of Dallas (the Southwest), Tracy Ringolsby of Denver (the Rockies), Charlie Smith of Kansas City (the Midlands) and Joe Sargis of San Francisco (the Far West).

The East

Nebraska 35 Army 10—Cadets can give anybody a tussle for a half, but they don't have the depth to handle this competition for a full game.

Penn State 42 Navy 6—No contest from the opening kickoff.

Boston College 25 Temple 15 defense in this one.

Florida State 31 Virginia Tech 14—Aerial duel between Gary Huff and Don Strook.

Also—Auburn 27 over Chattanooga, Southern Methodist 14 over Florida, LSU 21 over Texas A&M, Mississippi State 28 over Wake Forest, Stanford seven over Duke, Maryland 20 over VMI, North Carolina one over North Carolina State, Virginia six over West Virginia Drake.

The Midwest

Northwestern 14 Notre Dame 10—No upset, just unexpected.

Southern California 33 Illinois 14—Illini still aren't ready for Trojans.

Michigan State 27 Georgia Tech 7—Spartans getting better.

Colorado 20 Minnesota 17—a squeaker for the Buffaloes.

Purdue 28 Washington 24—Boilermakers start putting it together.

Also—Indiana seven over TCU, Iowa three over Oregon State, Wisconsin 10 over Syracuse, Northern Illinois six over Western Michigan, Cincinnati 13 over Xavier, Dayton six over Marshall, Kent State three over Ohio U., Bowling Green six over Miami (O.), Toledo seven over Texas Arlington.

The Southwest

Texas 31 Miami (Fla.) 6—Progress of Alan Lowry at quarterback may make Longhorns team to beat again in Southwest Conference.

Arkansas 35 Oklahoma State 9—Razorbacks are no super team, but they should have enough to deal with the Cowboys.

WHY WE CAN'T SELL YOU A SMALL VOLVO.

Volvos are built in Sweden where, as you see, the high growth rate is measured in feet as well as economic output. Since Sweden is not a little man's country, it would make little sense for Volvo to be his car. The Volvo in our showroom were designed to accommodate knees without scrunching and heads without banging. Which means that if you come to us looking for something in a small Volvo, we'll have to disappoint you.

Ulster Booters Have Potential...Could Use Desire

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Sports Editor

STONE RIDGE
Take it from George Vizvary, who has coached the Ulster County Community College soccer team for 10 years, the world of soccer is a master practitioner when the erudite soccer coach directed his considerable energy and talent into other academic channels.

In his first pre-season estimate of Ulster's soccer prospects for 1972, Vizvary paints a gloomy picture, a sort of beautifully orchestrated Götterdämmerung, with only the incidental music by Wagner missing.

After citing eight specific reasons why soccer glory may elude the Senators this fall, Vizvary quickly abandons the ponderous Wagnerian theme and in a roaring crescendo explains, "We have tremendously explosive power which, if harnessed and unleashed properly, will get us tickets to St. Louis."

To the uninitiated, St. Louis is the mecca of all college soccer teams — the Super Bowl of the sport.

Vizvary starts with six established players which are quickly neutralized by the eight bad marks against the team, to revive a dreary Olympic scoring method.

The letter winners returning include fullbacks Arelio DeMambro, a Cleveland High product, and Emil Lazaric of Bryant High, one of the more fertile recruiting grounds for the UCCC athletic department.

On the defensive line, Vizvary can count on Brian Tomer, Mike Romano, Frank Goglia and Gerard Lee Hing, a quartet any coach would welcome.

Biggest casualties by graduation were of course, Fernando Nasmith and All-American Klaus Weber. They will be hard to replace. Vizvary points out in a bit of understatement. But two all-star freshmen goalies — Mark Charpentier, all-Rhode Island State and Edgar Rodriguez, all-New York City, minimize Vizvary's worries in that department.

Not necessarily in order of demerits, Vizvary bases his caution and pessimism on the following grounds: "We have had only moderately successful scrimmages...our basic philosophy is not functioning...we have holes in the defensive line."

You can add these other observations: "We have started unusually slow and we are just not rolling and I'm afraid we may lose a few surprising games...our attitude could be better and I predict a mediocre season unless we change our approach."

Ulster has one genuine European import on this year's squad — a halfback with noble Roman name of Gianfranco Loboglio, who comes from Palermo, Italy. Other newcomers include fullback

James Green of Rye High and teammate Peter Kohlasch, a halfback; halfbacks Maurice Willacy of Theodore Roosevelt High in the Bronx and Bryan Cordero, an All-Nassau County selection.

Three newcomers on defense include Doug Smith of Washingtonville, Carl Hamilton, Franz Moise of Bronx, Sam Mazias of Fort Hamilton and Mike Torpey of Washingtonville.

If UCCC harnesses its potential, as coach Vizvary sees it, endless goodies await the Senators at the end of the line — an improvement over last season's 8.5 record, a third successive trip to the Region XV tournament and...maybe St. Louis.

But, first comes the Clipper Kick Off Tourney which launches Ulster's season Saturday on Long Island against host Suffolk Community, Essex Community and Cobleskill Aggies. The prevailing winds blow west off Long Island and west is where St. Louis is.

The Senators can take it from there.

NEW YORK (UPI) —King Ranch's Canonero II, the longshot winner of the 1971 Kentucky Derby, posted his first victory since last year's Preakness Stakes Wednesday when he raced to an easy five length victory over Riva Ridge, the 1972 Kentucky Derby champion, in the $25,000-added Stymie Handicap at Belmont Park.

Canonero II, laid up with various ailments after failing to sweep the 3-year-old Triple Crown when he finished fourth in last year's Belmont Stakes, found the winner's circle for the first time in seven tries this year as he posted a track record for 1 1/8 miles.

Ridden by his Venezuelan jockey Gustavo Avila, Canonero II was timed in 1:46 1/5, eclipsing by three-fifths of a second the mark set by Reviewer on June 22, 1970.

OSKALOOSA, Iowa (AP) —The football coach of Pillsbury College in Owatonna, Minn., confirmed Wednesday night that his team has forfeited Saturday's scheduled game with William Penn College here.

"We're afraid our kids were going to get slaughtered with that outfit—that's the main thing," said Pillsbury Coach Harold Hall.

Hall said William Penn's team was superior to his and added that his team has suffered many injuries.

William Penn has won its first two games of the season, including a 63-0 victory last week. Pillsbury has lost its two contests by scores of 64-14 and 44-6.

Coach Hall said he has 25 players while the William Penn team has 90. He said he has been trying to line up another game with an opponent that isn't quite as tough.

Wright Leads PGA

FARMINGDALE, L. I. — Shooting the first sub-par competitive round on the Black Course at Bethpage State Park in 20 years, Jimmy Wright, the Long Island Open champion, took a two stroke lead over Rick Rarick into today's second round of the $30,000 Marlboro New York State Professional Golfers Championship.

Wright was the only contestant in the 156-man field to break par on the 6,873-yard layout on a cold, blustery day. His 70 equaled the course record.

Matching steady nines of 35, Wright deviated from par only three times, with birdies on nine and 12 and a bogey on 17.

Rarick, a 24-year-old assistant pro at the Brae Burn Country Club in Purchase, was alone at 72 followed by four golfers at 73. They included Rex Baxter, the 1957 National Collegiate champion, Mike Joyce, Mal Galetta Jr. and Joe Moresco. Bill Collins, the defending champion and head pro at Brae Burn, was at 77.

Wes Ellis, former Metropolitan Open champion, was at 74 along with the Gene Borek, winner of the Long Island PGA. At 75 were Don Massengale, a former Canadian Open titleholder, Craig Shankland, Terry Wilcox, and Tom Nieporie. Doug Ford and the 1969 champion Jerry Pittman were at 76.

After today's 18-hole round, the low 60 and ties will move into the final two rounds Friday for the $5,000 first place money. The event is the richest state PGA meet in the country.

Classed as the "monster" at Bethpage, the Black Course is tree-lined on most holes and strategically bunkered around greens and fairways. With the event shifting to the Long Island course after three straight years at Saratoga Spa, most of the competitors are playing Bethpage for the first time.

Jim Wright, 35, 35-70, Rick Rarick, 37, 35-72, Mal Galetta Jr., 38, 35-73, Joe Moresco, 38, 35-73, Rex Baxter, 36, 37-73, Mike Joyce, 28, 35-73, Wes Ellis, 37, 37-74, Gene Borek, 38, 36-74, Craig Shankland, 39, 36-75, Ed Sorge, 39, 36-75, Don Massengale, 38, 37-75, Tom Nieporie, 41, 34-75, Terry Wilcox, 39, 36-75, Carl Pederson, 40, 35-75, Charles Huckaby, 38, 37-75, Mike Mallon, 38, 37-75, Jim McCoy, 37, 38-75, Dick DeMare, 38, 40-76, John Langford, 39, 39-76, Denny Lyons, 40, 36-76, Jerry Pittman, 40, 36-76, Paul Kelly, 39, 37-76, Nick Karl, 37, 38-76, Harold Kalb, 40, 36-76, Doug Ford, 38, 38-76, Jerry Steelsmith, 38, 38-77, Mike Higuera, 40, 37-77, Ron Letellier, 40, 37-77, Bob Watson, 37, 37-77, Bob DeStefano, 37, 40-77, Tom Joyce, 39, 38-77, Tom Murphy, 40, 37-77, Bill Collins, 37, 40-77.

Colleen Hanna... Smash Hit at Local Hotel

Colleen Hanna is no stranger to theater-going audiences in Albany and the other Capital Cities area and she's fast becoming a smash hit at the Governor's Tavern of the Gov. Clinton Hotel.

Colleen of upstate Troy is combining a show business career while attending classes at the College of New Rochelle. The upstate petite, blue-eyed blonde, incidentally, is achieving success in both of these endeavors.

Colleen, who appears Friday and Saturday nights in the Governor's Tavern, has a rich, dynamic voice that somehow belies her pettiness.

Not only does the upstate thrush sing, she also is an accomplished pianist and does a lot of her own arranging. She has one single recording to her credit. How Are Things in California on the Mercury label and will have at least three others.

Miss Hanna has appeared in the Capital Cities areas on several occasions at the Colonie Tent, the Palace Theater, with the Albany Civic Theater group where she had the lead role in Gypsy. She landed her recording contract after a live performance at the Towers Hall in Lake George.

Meanwhile, Colleen has three years of college left and a busy entertainment schedule as well.

NOTICE OF PROPOSED CHANGES IN TELEPHONE RATE SCHEDULES

Notice is hereby given that the following proposed telephone rate schedules have been filed with the Public Service Commission to be effective October 11, 1972.

Introduction of rates and charges for a Magnetic Tape Terminal

Monthly Rate	Installation Charge
$137.50	$200.00*
2.00	25.00*

*The minimum charge per terminal is the monthly rate for six months plus the installation charge. Installation or more charges are not applicable when installed or moved at the same time as the Magnetic Tape Terminal with which it is associated.

In lieu of the Telephone Company furnishing the above equipment at the above rates, the customer at his option may provide this equipment subject to tariff regulations.

NEW YORK TELEPHONE COMPANY

NOTICE OF PROPOSED CHANGES IN TELEPHONE RATE SCHEDULES

Notice is hereby given that the New York Telephone Company has filed with the Public Service Commission a proposed tariff pertaining to the application of Directory Assistance Service charges, as described below, for requests for telephone numbers of customers located in New York State. This matter is currently the subject of hearings by the Public Service Commission in Case 26272.

DIRECTORY ASSISTANCE SERVICE

1. General
Customers may obtain assistance in determining telephone numbers by calling the Directory Assistance Operator or by furnishing the Company with written lists of names and addresses for which telephone numbers are desired.

2. Charges
a. Calls to Directory Assistance Operator
(1) One message unit (currently 7.1c) is charged per telephone number requested.
The monthly local service charge for each message rate and flat rate service subscriber shall include an allowance of 3 message units for calls to the Directory Assistance Operator. Such 3-message unit allowance shall be in addition to any message unit allowance already included in the subscriber's monthly local service charge, and may be applied against message unit calls whether or not such calls are made to the Directory Assistance Operator.

(2) No charge applies for
(a) Calls to the Directory Assistance Operator originating from coin telephones.
(b) Calls to the Directory Assistance Operator from handicapped persons who have been certified to the Telephone Company by a registered physician as being unable to use telephone directories. In cases involving visually handicapped persons, the Telephone Company, in lieu of a physician's certificate may rely on a certificate of the New York State Commission for the Visually Handicapped.

b. Lists
A charge of 6c per number requested applies.
3. Effective Dates for Charges and Allowances for Calls to Directory Assistance Operator
The charges will be applied on a progressive basis in New York Telephone Company exchanges, as facilities become available, on the effective dates shown below.

'Day' Scheduled In Hudson

HUDSON
The annual Hudson Valley Fireman's Association Day will be held Sept. 24 at the New York State Fireman's Home in Hudson.

Orville Kimbark of the Ulster County Volunteer Fireman's Association noted that all county residents are invited to attend the day's events. Musical entertainment will be provided by the Kingston Indians Drum and Bugle Corps and the Swingtime Mountaineers, a country music group.

Visitors may bring their own picnic lunches, said Kimbark. The activities at the Fireman's Home begin at 2 p.m. that Sunday. The Fireman's Museum will be open throughout the day.

Persons attending may also visit with many of the elderly firemen from throughout New York State who are staying at the home. There are several from the Ulster and Dutchess County areas.

Assemblymen Address Group

KINGSTON
Assemblymen Benjamin A. Gilman and Assemblyman Thomas Brown spoke today before a workshop of the Eastern New York American Association of Retired Persons at the St. James Methodist Church in Kingston.

Both Assemblymen spoke on legislation as it affects older Americans before the approximately 100 persons assembled for the one-day workshop which will end at 3 p.m. Leaders from the nine-county eastern New York region are present at the workshop, as well as Mrs. Elise Cussler, state director of the eastern New York region of the association, and other area, state and regional officers.

The American Association of Retired Persons has three million members nationally, represented by 1,000 chapters.

Area Business Is Charged

WASHINGTON, D. C.
Martin Aaron, doing business as Fowler and Keith Hardware, Smith Avenue, Kingston has been charged with alleged failure to pay overtime and keep proper records, according to the U.S. Department of Labor.

Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson recently asked the U.S. District Courts of New York and New Jersey for orders to restrain a number of firms from future violations of the minimum wage, overtime, record keeping, shipping or homework provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act, among them the Fowler and Keith concern.

Seeger Set For Concert

NEW PALTZ
Well-known folk singer Pete Seeger will appear in concert at the Elting Gymnasium of the State University College at New Paltz Friday at 8 p.m.

His appearance is being sponsored by the Orange County Citizens for McGovern, and the Young Democrats of SUC New Paltz.

Tickets are available at the new Student Union on the New Paltz campus, or at Democratic Headquarters in New Paltz, 25 Chestnut Street. Tickets are $2.50 for students and $4 for non-students.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE AND MARKETS

Notice of a Hearing to Consider the Promulgation of Amendments to 1 NYCRR Part 47 relating to the Control and Suppression of External Parasites on Livestock

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN: PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that a Public Hearing to be held on October 20, 1972, in the Hearing Room of the Department of Agriculture and Markets of the State of New York, Eighth Floor, Building No. 12225, Albany, New York 12226, at 10:30 a.m. for the purpose of considering, pursuant to Sections 18 and 72 of the Agriculture and Markets Law, amendments to Part 47 of Title 1 of the Official Compilation of Codes, Rules and Regulations of the State of New York (1 NYCRR, Part 47). The amendments proposed by the Commissioner of Agriculture and Markets would modify the requirements governing the control and suppression of external parasites of livestock.

Copies of the said rules and regulations in their proposed form may be examined by any person interested in the provisions of the Division of Animal Industry, Ninth Floor, Building No. 8, State Campus, Albany, New York 12225, and copies of said proposal may be obtained from said Division by request in person or by mail.

Proof will be taken at said hearing in relation to the proposed amendments and any interested person may appear and be heard.

FRANK WALKLEY
Commissioner of Agriculture and Markets of the State of New York

Dated and Sealed at the City [L.S.] of Albany, New York, this 14th day of September, 1972.

BY: JOHN H. STONE, Assistant Commissioner

Your Horoscope

Friday, September 22

GENERAL TENDENCIES: This is no day to yield to impulsive actions nor for arguing with others. Poor judgment is a part of practically everyone today and only by showing special consideration for others, by smiling and being cheerful yourself do you prevent troubles.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Although you may have worries, don't act in an impulsive way, which would only make matters worse. Consult with an expert who has the data you want. Show that you have wisdom.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Use diplomacy and courtesy with an associate or a co-worker could develop, which you do not want. Taking the right health treatments will make a big change for the good.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) If you are not attentive to what kin have to say, difficult conditions could result. Quietly go about getting rid of whatever is causing trouble. Show loyalty to kin.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You have fine ideas but they need more study before you can put them in operation successfully. Make worthwhile plans with a new-comer that will bring fine results.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You have a new plan for adding to your present income, but be sure not to take any risks with your credit. Mate wants more money, and it would be wise to give it. Generosity pays now.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Situations arise that give you the right outlook where associates are concerned. A civic matter is annoying, but keep calm. A day's patience makes work out fine.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Keep busily occupied at your particular duties and don't ask others to help you at the present time. Add more useful appliances to your home and make it more charming.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)

Engage in amusements that are inexpensive and you can gain much satisfaction. Show more devotion to mate and increase your happiness appreciably. Think constructively.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Home conditions can be trying, but exercise patience and all works out fine by evening. Show that you are understanding. Not a good evening for entertaining at home.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) If you are not careful, you could easily get into some kind of accident. Make sure you count your change when shopping. Check your money before starting on a trip. Be alert.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Study your finances well, but don't make any hasty investments at this time. Consult with a business expert and get the right information. Enjoy a pleasant evening.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Try not to get into an argument you are itching for and which would be regretful. Spend more time making your surroundings more charming. Enjoy the social in the early evening.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those dynamic young people who wants to get results right now and this could develop a negative attitude if this does not happen. Teach patience, and to be more charming with others, and this becomes a very successful life. Anything of a trouble-shooting nature is good here. Teach to be sociable early in life.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

BARE: (Comment) You don't know how embarrassing it is to be spanked bare! There are seven kids in our family, and when any of us, boy or girl, comes home five minutes late we get belted in the yard and spanked—bare—inside the house.

I'm 17. Last week my mom caught me kissing my boy friend. She hollered, "How many times have I told you not to do that? You're only 17! You're really going to get belted this time."

When my boy friend left, she took me inside, and spanked me horribly.

Next day my boy friend broke up with me—Embarrassed in Virginia.

(A.) You do not ask for advice, but I urge you to talk to your mother some day when she is in a reasonably good humor. Try to show her that in today's world it is not wrong for a 17-year-old girl to be kissed by her boy friend.

Try to explain to her that at your age some other discipline would work better than spanking. Try to convince her that you can be more a friend and less a tyrant.

TONGUE-TIED (Q.) I'm a 15-year-old tongue-tied boy. I heard on radio that doctors can help tongue-tied people. Is this so? Is it possible that I will grow out of it?—Poor Talker in Texas.

(A.) I don't know whether it is that you have a speech impediment or that you never know what to say and how to say it.

If it's an impediment, if your tongue does not work right, arrange to see a speech therapist. He can tell you whether you need speech training, which he can give you, or surgery, for which he can refer you to a doctor.

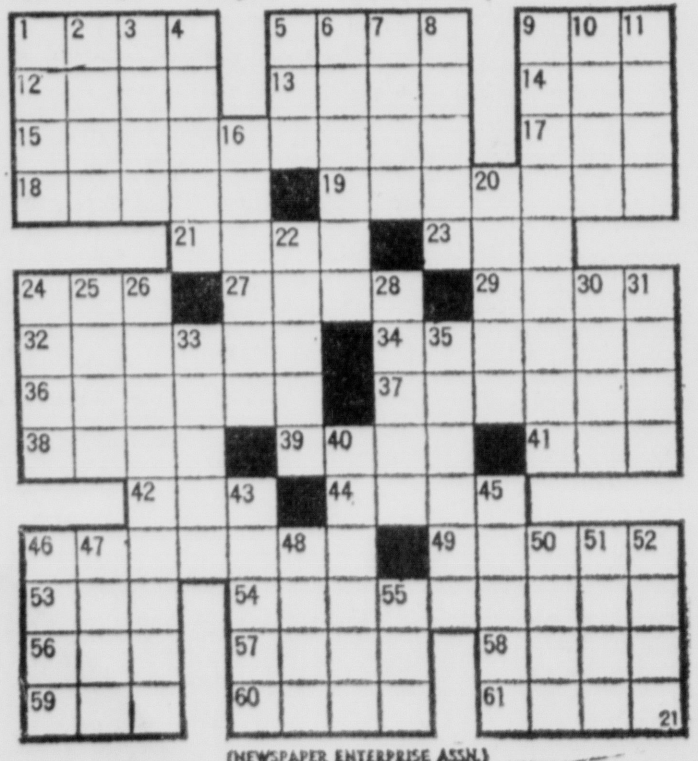

If it is just self-consciousness or shyness that makes talking difficult for you, experience and a good speech course in school should help.

Building confidence is one of the most effective ways of building speaking ability.

Best New Series Entries

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The best new series entries of the network television season that arrived last week appear to be as follows:

— "NBC Reports," a documentary hour. Its premiere presentation was a tough study of the failures of some private pension systems. And Tuesday night it offered a superb program about the Japanese camps in the United States in World War II. Title: "Guilty by Reason of Race."

— "The Waltons," a weekly CBS-TV hour which, mixing drama and humor, deals with a large, affectionate American mountain family in the 1930's depression. The show's surprise is its contemporary grassroot values.

— "MASH," a half-hour CBS-TV situation comedy based on the movie of the same name, and concerning three battle surgeons in the Korean War who let off steam in zany, often irreverent ways as they try to retain their perspective and sanity amid the madness around them.

— "Maude," another half-hour CBS-TV situation comedy—this one about a sharp-tongued, formidable but vulnerable woman who is married for the fourth time and has her divorced daughter living with her.

— "The Julie Andrews Variety Hour," an ABC-TV presentation. As it happens, none of these series were a ratings smash in their premieres—some, in fact, had a rough go—but popularity statistics, of course, have little or nothing to do with quality and potential.

Some other new series are also worthy of mention on the basis of their debuts:

— "Anna and the King," a half-hour CBS-TV situation comedy based on the famous story of a 19th century monarch in Siam and a lady teacher from the western world he hires for his royal household.

— "Ghost Story," an hour NBC-TV anthology of scary tales, with Sebastian Cabot as the host.

Richard Widmark's periodic, bringing something out of almost nothing.

There also is an Oct. 8 NBC-TV premiere of another periodic 90-minute series, "Hec Ramsey." The title role is played by Richard Boone, who portrays a turn-of-the-century gunfighter-turned-lawman who uses the latest scientific devices to give the bad guys a bad time.

"MASH" and "Anna and the King," by the way, did only fair in the ratings in their debuts. Peppard's series, "Banacek," is off to a strong start. So is ABC-TV's "The Rookie." But Bill Cosby's new CBS-TV variety series pulled only mediocre ratings again this week in its second showing.

U. S. Proposal to Viet Communists

A Supervised Cease-Fire

PARIS (UPI) — The United States called on the Vietnamese Communists today to agree to an internationally supervised cease-fire in all of Indochina and to begin direct political negotiations with South Vietnam.

U.S. peace negotiator William J. Porter told Hanoi and Viet Cong diplomats the latest Communist call for the creation of a tripartite Viet Cong participation will not be accepted.

Porter, speaking at the 16th Vietnam conference session, said Communist calls for a three-segment coalition cabinet to be formed after the dismissal of President Nguyen Van Thieu and a complete U.S. military pullout "would, if achieved, lead neither to peace nor to self-determination for the South Vietnamese population."

"Instead, prolonged warfare and Communist dictatorship by the north would be the clearly predictable consequences," he said.

Porter added, "By contrast, the need for an internationally supervised cease-fire throughout Indochina, and the subsequent resolution of political questions throughout discussions among the Vietnamese themselves, has become even more apparent than before."

Porter said the Viet Cong, in their latest call for a tripartite coalition or "national concord" cabinet, called for a pledge that none of the contesting political factions should seek the elimination of the other by physical violence.

Such a non-elimination guarantee, Porter said, can come only through an impartially controlled cease-fire.

Hanoi's deputy delegate Nguyen Minh Vy demanded acceptance of the coalition cabinet after Thieu's dismissal as the price for any peace.

"Otherwise the Nixon administration will bear the full consequence for the continuation of the war," he said.

The unchanged position of the two sides indicated no progress in the latest secret meeting here between presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger and North Vietnam's top negotiators Xuan Thuy and Le Duc Tho last Friday. It was the 17th such private meeting.

Thieu Tours Northern Battlefront

SAIGON (UPI) — President Nguyen Van Thieu, who just missed being hit by Communist artillery at Quang Tri City Wednesday, flew today to the central coast where Communist troops hours earlier attacked three district towns.

The president, on a two-day tour of the northern battlefront, visited the province capital of Quang Ngai City 318 miles northeast of Saigon. The Communists last weekend shifted the emphasis of their offensive to the region and heavy fighting has been under way south of Quang Ngai City for six days.

The U.S. command in Saigon announced today that no Americans were killed in Vietnam combat last week and that seven men were wounded. It was the lowest overall weekly casualty toll of the war for the United States.

Command spokesmen said monsoon weather limited air strikes to 210 Wednesday over North Vietnam. They said pilots destroyed 20 warehouses in the Thanh Hoa-Vinh area, 137 to 210 miles south of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ). The closest raid to Hanoi was 30 miles to the south where Navy pilots reported knocking out or damaging six buildings at the Lang Loc army installation.

A command spokesman said a Navy A7 Corsair jet developed engine trouble during the raids and crashed into the Tonkin Gulf. The pilot, Lt. Stanley F. Bloyer, 26, of Ripley, Ohio, parachuted into the sea within sight of two U.S. 7th Fleet vessels and was rescued unharmed within 18 minutes.

Communist troops staged an all-night assault on Ba To, 25 miles southwest of Quang Ngai City, and by dawn today had partially captured a government ranger compound in the district town, field reports said.

A South Vietnamese spokesman said at least 403 Communists were killed in the fighting. He put government losses at eight dead and 36 wounded but reported no other details of the fighting.

Military spokesmen in Saigon said the district town of Duc Pho, 15 miles east of Ba To, came under heavy shelling at dawn followed by a ground attack. The spokesmen said there were no immediate details of that battle.

The third fight flared near Tu Ngha, only six miles below Quang Ngai City, spokesmen said. They said that action left 26 Communist soldiers dead and reported government casualties of four wounded.

The Saigon command said government troops killed 28 Communists in a fight a mile west of Ba To Wednesday, with two South Vietnamese soldiers killed and six wounded. Two miles from the town, Saigon troops found the bodies of 30 North Vietnamese killed in an artillery barrage, spokesmen said.

The Saigon command said 800 rounds of Communist 130mm artillery shells fell into a South Vietnamese position 600 yards southeast of newly recaptured Quang Tri City Wednesday but caused only light casualties.

IRA Bomb Campaign 'Major Part of Policy'

DUBLIN (UPI)—Sean MacStiofain said today his Provisional wing of the Irish Republican Army (IRA) will continue its bombing campaign in Northern Ireland until its peace terms are met.

MacStiofain, 45, on the run from security forces on both sides of the Irish border, broke cover for an exclusive interview with UPI.

"The bombing campaign plays a major part in our overall military policy," he said. "There are good, sound, tactical and strategic reasons for continuing it, and it will be continued."

He said there would be a "big intensification" in attacks on British military personnel in Northern Ireland.

"It will come in the very near future," he said.

"We have drastically increased the British military casualties since the beginning of June," he said, "and I can say with confidence that it will be further dramatically increased in the not too distant future."

Refers to Reports

MacStiofain referred to newspaper reports that a decision to suspend bombing activities had been taken by the Provisionals.

"There has been no such decision," he said. "The bombing will continue. Others may think what they like, but we know our bombs blasted the Northern Ireland Parliament out of existence."

MacStiofain said it was not the IRAs' present intention to extend its bombing campaign to England.

"Only in the event of a doomsday situation arising in Belfast will we extend our bombing campaign to Britain. By a doomsday situation I mean should the British military, by sheer weight of numbers, crack the local defense system in the nationalist (Roman Catholic) areas of Belfast, that is, the IRA units, the auxiliary units, the defense committees, and then stand back and allow armed Unionists (Protestant) bigots to burn, murder and loot as they did in 1969."

"In that situation we would attack England with bombs."

A "Step or Two Ahead" MacStiofain, a powerfully built man who stands six-foot plus and is a non-drinker and non-smoker, said he was just a "step or two" ahead of police in the Irish Republic.

"They raided a house I was in on Saturday," he said. "And I had to escape through the bathroom window."

"From the pattern of raids the Special Branch detectives have been making, it is obvious they are reaching out for me again," he added.

"I'm moving with caution, keeping a low profile," he said. He said "very stringent" regulations were in force within the IRA to avoid civilian casualties in bomb attacks.

"We do not like civilian casualties. It is not a question of the British bombing the Germans during the last war, or even the Americans bombing the North Vietnamese," he said.

"The people who are suffering in the North whether as a result of British action or as a result of accidental injury from an IRA operation, are our people."

"We feel deeply about civilian casualties and try hard to avoid them..."

Chinese-Soviet Clash Seen in UN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A Chinese-Soviet clash was expected in the General Assembly steering committee today over a Yugoslav move to revive the U.N. membership application of Bangladesh.

China vetoed the application in the Security Council Aug. 25. The proposal was sponsored by the Soviet Union, India, Yugoslavia and Britain. There were 11 votes in favor and three abstentions, and the United States voted with the majority.

Entrance into the world body is impossible without unanimous approval of the five big powers in the council, China, the Soviet Union, Britain and the United States and France. However, even then a move was reported underway to persuade the General Assembly to urge the council to reconsider.

Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim's personal prestige also was at stake as the steering committee, considering which of 101 proposed items to recommend for the assembly's agenda, neared a decision on his proposal for a debate on measures to prevent terrorism.

He laid his prestige on the line Wednesday night when, faced with backstage Arab and African opposition to his initiative, he expressed hope that members of the 25-nation steering committee and the 132-nation assembly "will understand my reasons and will support this proposal."

He spoke to the committee right after it decided to recommend that assembly debate on Korea be postponed to next year. The decision was a victory of West over East.

In a concession calculated to win over the doubtful, Waldheim has suggested that the subject of terrorism be debated first in the legal committee, instead of going straight to the assembly as he had asked earlier.

His original proposal for a debate had come Sept. 8, three days after the Palestinian massacre of 11 Israeli Olympic athletes in Munich.

But he now said that in making it he "had the general problem in mind, and not any specific incident."

He also declared that the United Nations must face up to the "international aspects" of the problem posed by acts of violence increasingly "directed at national leaders, diplomatic envoys, international passengers and other innocent civilians."

The steering committee adopted a U.S.-supported British motion for postponement of the Korean debate over Communist and non-aligned opposition. The vote was 16 to 7 with France abstaining.

China, the Soviet Union and 26 others had proposed that the assembly debate "creation of favorable conditions to accelerate" reunification of Korea, and adopt a resolution suspending the activities of the U.N. Commission for the Unification and Rehabilitation of Korea and stating that U.S. troops should be withdrawn from South Korea.

Family Dies in Crash . . . Man Takes Life

CLINTON, Iowa (UPI)—Last Sunday, after a weekend outing in Chicago, David R. Utroska took the controls of his plane to fly his wife and three children back to their Iowa home.

It was a stormy night, and shortly after the light plane cleared the end of the runway at Meigs Field, it plunged into Lake Michigan. The mother and children were killed but Utroska managed to climb from the aircraft and survive.

The entire family will be buried here today.

Tuesday night, Utroska locked himself in his Davenport, Iowa, home, wrote a note accepting the blame for the death of his family, and shot himself to death.

"It was my fault...Sandra can't take care of the children alone . . . I know they'll need me," Utroska's suicide note said.

"I don't feel like living anymore after I killed my family," he said.

"I want to be buried with them when the time comes."

Utroska bought a cemetery plot, then talked with relatives before cloistering himself in his house. What he had to say upset his relatives, and they contacted a friend who notified police, and asked them to check his home.

Utroska's body was found in bed, a .22 caliber pistol nearby. "Life is not worth living without them. My family is my whole life," the note, addressed to Utroska's father, said.

The case, the note said, had been a "sad ending to a perfect day."

He had taken his wife Sandra, 30, and children Kimberly, 11, Kandice, 6, and Kenneth, 9, to Chicago to visit a zoo to celebrate Kenneth's birthday.

But late Sunday night a severe thunderstorm blew in off Lake Michigan, and officials at Meigs Field urged Utroska not to try to take off. Pelting rain and strong shifting winds did not change his mind, however, because he had to get the children back to Davenport for school Monday.

Just as he taxied down the runway for takeoff, the wind suddenly shifted from the north and blew the Cessna Skymaster about 100 yards out over the lake, where it disintegrated and sank in 25 feet of water.

Utroska, who later said he kept seeing his wife and children strapped in the plane as he went out the door, returned to Davenport Monday and then came to Clinton Tuesday to handle funeral arrangements.

Friends said he was "very despondent," and they tried to have someone with him at all times, but he apparently "slipped away" and went home.

Uganda Order Set
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Uganda said Wednesday it was ready to order pre-emptive strikes into Tanzania to head off another invasion, and Tanzania declared it might be forced to take its troops off a defensive footing unless Uganda halts its air strikes.
Uganda's president, Idi Amin, claimed Tanzania had sent 10,000 troops to the Ugandan border.
"We must stop them before they penetrate into Uganda," he said. "And the only way to do it will be by striking at them before they enter the country."
Speaking in Kampala during memorial prayers for Ugandan soldiers and civilians killed after Sunday's fighting, Amin said he would "instruct the Uganda air force and the sea-borne regiment to destroy Tanzanian camps where the enemy is planning to launch another invasion of Uganda."
He said Sunday's invasion was the work of guerrilla supporters of ex-President Milton Obote, based in Tanzania and "supported by Tanzanian, Brit-
